HARRIS' NOMINATION GETS A FAVORABLE COMMITTEE REPORT

Senate Committee on Census With All but One Vote, Recommends That the Senate Make Speedy Confirmation

OPPOSITION TO GEORGIAN IS ONLY POLITICAL MOVE

Nothing in Opposition to Reflect on His Competency—Republicans Only Move to Hold Durand in Office

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—The opponents of Colonel William J. Harris, of Georgia, for director of the census, received a hard jolt this morning when the senate census committee adopted a report recommending Mr. Harris' speedy confirmation.

Only one vote was cast against the favorable report. Senator Townsend, of Michigan, who has headed an unsuccessful movement to hold up all Democrats, voted against Mr. Harris, and will file a minority report, in order to delay the final action in the senate.

The Georgia senators have made a hard and consistent fight for the confirmation of Mr. Harris. The favorable action of the senate committee this morning speaks volumes for the influence of the Georgians, neither of whom is a member of the census committee. The favorable report is a distinct gain for Mr. Harris, and while it does not follow that he will be confirmed at once, the opponents of Mr. Harris contend that the action of the committee will prove a tremendous advantage.

It will bring the nomination squarely before the senate for the first time.

The opposition to Mr. Harris, as has been explained in these dispatches, in nowise reflects upon the personality or capacity of the Georgian. Friends of E. Dana Durand, the incumbent, started the movement to delay the Harris confirmation, in order to prolong Durand's tenure of office and enable him to "complete the thirteenth census," which was taken under his direction.

President Wilson's intended departure for New Jersey tomorrow on a speaking trip, congested his engagements today.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, brought two students who opposed theories of the, but the senator said he would support the tariff bill. Senator Gore talked about Oklahoma appointments.

Commissioner Hobson, of Alabama, talked with the president about the Japanese situation, but declined to discuss it with inquirers.

Walter H. Page, ambassador to Great Britain, came to have a final talk with the president before leaving for London.

The president prepared to receive about 2,000 visiting boys and girls from various schools, in the east room immediately after luncheon and later to consult about prospective appointments with Senators Burton, Penrose, Oliver, LaFollette, Stephenson, Bryan and Poindexter.

Tonight the president has here as dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Glass of Montgomery, Ala. Mr. Glass was a student in Princeton during the president's college days.

Congressman Crisp, of the Third district, today recommended to the postoffice department the following appointments for postmasters:

Shellman, H. O. Crittenden; Smithville, J. L. Wells; Cuthbert, Mrs. J. B. Bussey's reappointment. Mrs. Bussey was first appointed by President Cleveland and has served continuously since that time. Her husband is one of the best known Democrats of southwest Georgia.

Hydro-Aeroplane And a Houseboat For His Vacation

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 30.—The twentieth century way to spend a summer vacation is houseboating and hydro-aeroplaning, according to Irvine Twombly, president of the Aeronautical society, who plans to try it this summer with his family in a way that is likely to attract considerable attention.

It was learned today that he is building a houseboat with sixty rooms, including a gymnasium, a bowling alley, a ballroom and a roof garden, equipped with a hangar in which the family pleasure vehicle, a hydro-aeroplane, will be housed.

The boat, which Mr. Twombly believes will be the largest houseboat in the world, and be launched about July 1, and he expects to spend the next three months on it with his family.

He has already built his hydro-aeroplane providing plenty of room to take Mrs. Twombly and the two children along with him on short flights from the houseboat which will be moored in the Shrewsbury river in New Jersey.

The members of the board are: R. A. Thompson, engaged in valuation work for the California state railroad commission, and formerly in similar service with the Texas commission.

Howard M. Jones, of Nashville, Tenn., a consulting and bridge engineer.

Prof. W. D. Pence, chief engineer of the Wisconsin railroad and tax commissions.

J. S. Worley, of Kansas City, Mo., a consulting engineer.

USE OF DICTAPHONE ON FRANK AND NEGRO IS DENIED BY POLICE

They Decline to Say, However, Whether Conversation Between Superintendent and Watchman Was Overheard

WAS MARY PHAGAN SEEN AT 5 P. M.?

J. L. Watkins Says He Saw Her Near Her Home—Chemist's Test Shows No Blood Under Negro's Finger Nails

A report that there was a distaphone in the room in which Leo M. Frank talked with Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, at police headquarters Tuesday night in a supposed effort to wring a confession from the negro, was denied Wednesday by both Chief of Detectives Lanford and Chief of Police Beavers.

Neither official, however, would say that the conversation between the factory superintendent and the negro was private. They were asked directly if any member of the police or detective departments heard what was said between Frank and the negro but declined to say.

There is a strong belief that the meeting between the superintendent and the negro was arranged by the detectives in the hope of obtaining evidence without the knowledge of either Mr. Frank or the night watchman. The report, spread that sensational evidence was obtained in this manner, but no confirmation could be obtained at headquarters.

WHAT TIME CLOCK SHOWS.

Despite the negro watchman's statement that he punched every half hour through the machine room, where it is presumed Mary Phagan first battled to save her honor and her life, an examination of the clock's record which was brought to police headquarters Tuesday afternoon, developed that the clock had not been punched from midnight Saturday until long after the body of the murdered girl was found.

The time clock record shows that the instrument was visited regularly by Lee at 9:25 o'clock Saturday night. It was next punched at 10:29 o'clock. Next the instrument records a visit from some one, presumably the night watchman, at midnight. The clock was not punched between 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock in the morning.

Considered of far more importance than the irregularity of the visits of the watchman to the time clock, despite the fact that his previous record shows that almost invariably he punched the clock each half hour on past nights, was the finding by City Detective John Black and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, of a bloody shirt stuffed in a barrel at the negro watchman's home on Hendrix avenue.

Between the irregular adjustments of the clock the negro would have had ample time to visit his home, it is said.

Still, the detectives argue, the evidence against the negro might have been planted. Lee was confronted with the bloody shirt and he says that he hasn't worn it in two years, and that when last he saw the shirt it had no blood on it. His wife declares that he left the house Saturday wearing a shirt he now has on at police headquarters.

SAYS HE SAW HER AT 5 P. M.

J. L. Watkins, a blacksmith at the corner of Bellwood avenue and Ashby street, is positive that he saw Mary Phagan about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and he is the first witness who is positive that the murdered girl left the Forsyth street factory after she went there Saturday about noon to collect the $1.20 due her for two days' work in the place.

Watkins lives near Mary Phagan's home, and says that he has known her for years.

Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, he tells The Journal, he saw her walking up Bellwood avenue in the direction of her home on Lindsay street. He was walking behind her, he says, and was only ten paces away.

"I am positive that it was Mary Phagan," said Mr. Watkins, "and I have known her as a neighbor for many years.

"When I last saw her she was cutting across a vacant lot towards Lindsay street and her home. She was dressed in a blue skirt and white shirtwaist and was bareheaded."

Watkins was located by the detectives Tuesday and made substantially the same statement to them that he has to The Journal.

NO BLOOD UNDER NAILS.

A chemical analysis was made Tuesday night at the direction of Chief of Detectives Lanford of the dirt under the finger nails of Newt Lee. The analysis proved a point in the negro's favor rather than against him, since it developed absolutely no trace of blood.

It developed Wednesday that on an investigation by the detectives the supposed "finger prints" on the dead girl's arm were proved to be "paint finger prints," and according to Chief Lanford, the paint might have been on the arm for weeks.

All efforts to break Lee down and force a confession or more complete statement failed Tuesday night. Francis E. Wright, of Pulliam street, salesman, assisted the detectives in "sweating" Lee during the evening, and emerged from a long conference with the statement that the negro must be innocent. There is a growing impression among the rank and file at police headquarters, that the watchman, despite the circumstantial evidence against him, did not commit the crime.

Walter Graham, a young white man of 75 Marietta street, smuggled a derringer revolver into a cell at headquarters next to Lee, and Tuesday night discharged the weapon. Lee was badly frightened by the report, but when investigated shortly afterwards by the detectives had not weakened.

LET HOSPITABLE ATLANTA OPEN HER HOMES TO PRESBYTERIANS OF WORLD WHO WILL BE OUR GUESTS

ATLANTA'S hospitality is about to be tested.

With no hurrah to stir her spirit, with no fanfare of trumpets to announce an event, the city is called upon to show her inmate cordiality toward strangers.

The Presbyterians are coming—from the north, west east, and south. They will gather soon for the joint meeting of their four big assembles, on May 15, the first of its kind for a hundred years or more, the very first in all time of its magnitude.

They will represent the Presbyterian denomination of the whole union.

There will be some 1,500 of them.

Among them will be found some of the leading men of the nation. Collectively, they will form a representative and highly creditable body. About half of them are Presbyterian ministers. Laymen recruited from the highest class of the nation's citizenship will comprise the remainder.

But not yet has Atlanta arranged to entertain them all.

Of the 1,500 estimated to attend, provision has been made for about 1,000 in hundreds of Atlanta homes. All of the Presbyterians are doing their full proportionate share. But the gathering is a national one, and it overtaxes their ability to entertain visitors.

Therefore entertainment must be found for 500 more delegates among the city's homes.

Let's attend to this, Thursday.

Let's quit racking along, temporizing, putting it off from day to day.

Of course we are going to accomplish just that; and the sooner it's done, the better.

One day is enough to finish it. Let Thursday be the day. There's a committee in charge of this matter. It is a strong committee, composed of energetic and effective workers. The city is cordial toward the Presbyterian visitors, and waits merely to be told what it can do to help. Let the committee and the city meet each other, Thursday, and attend to the whole matter that day.

Jere Moore, in Room 513 Empire building, is the secretary of the committee. Citizens who are willing to entertain in their homes for the good name of the town, can inform him there in person or by calling telephone No. Main 3726.

With these delegates will come several thousand unofficial visitors, attracted by the bigness of the event but having no direct part in its deliberations. They, too, will come from all parts of the land.

The official visitors were invited to Atlanta by the ministers of the city, the chamber of commerce, the city council, and of course, by their Presbyterian brethren here. The whole city joined in bidding them to come. They were told that they would be received as guests.

Upon that understanding they are coming; and that is why it would not be meet nor proper to house them in the hotels of Atlanta. The real spirit of cordiality cannot be shown to them except in the very homes of the city.

Also, the unofficial visitors will crowd the hotels. In a material way, the city's benefits from the gathering will be immense. With them, however, the present matter is not concerned.

The sole concern here is to provide homes for some 500 delegates for whom there is now no entertainment listed.

It shall be done, of course. It's Atlanta that is interested. It can be done in a day.

Why not let Thursday be that day?

Let's finish it then.

BUSINESS MEN PROTEST SENSATIONAL "EXTRAS"

Following an interview between Mayor Woodward and Chief of Police Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford, in which the mayor protested that extras on the Phagan murder case which were based on information alleged to have been given out by the officers and the detectives and which were liable to unduly inflame the public, a petition has been circulated among local business men asking the newspapers not to issue so many sensational extras.

The petition states that extras such as have been issued are hurting business and will hurt it still further, that the community is being aroused to a dangerous degree by them, and that they may bring extremely unfortunate conditions.

The Journal issues six local editions and has been doing so for months. In order to editions the developments in the Phagan case have been given fully and correctly. The case will be covered in the same conservative way in the future, with all possible facts included and no unwarranted ones.

The six editions which The Journal issues every day, and has been issuing for the past six months, are as follows:

1. Goes to press 10:30 a. m. Out at 11. Marked "extra."
2. Goes to press 11:30 a. m. Out at 12. Marked "early mail" or extra.
3. Goes to press 2:30 p. m. Out at 3. Regular edition.
4. Goes to press about 3:45 p. m. First baseball extra.
5. Goes to press about 5 o'clock when the game is over.
6. Final night extra.

PORTION OF NOTE FOUND

The Journal's Three Handwriting Experts Still Firm in Their Conviction That Newt Lee Wrote Mysterious Notes When Shown Copies Written by Both Frank and Lee in Comparison With Original Note Found

HAVING compared exact reproductions of the notes found near the body of Mary Phagan with specimens of the handwriting of Newt Lee, the night watchman, and of Leo M. Frank, the superintendent of the National Pencil company, three handwriting experts Tuesday morning stuck to their first opinion that the negro's handwriting and that of the notes found near the girl are the same.

They did this after a minute examination of the copy of the note written by Frank under direction of the detectives. Each then declared in effect that although it was within the bounds of possibility for Frank to have written the notes found near the girl, that it was extremely improbable.

They reiterated their assertions that the negro's handwriting was the same as that in the notes.

Frank M. Berry, assistant cashier of the Fourth National bank; Andrew M. Bergstrom, assistant cashier of the Third National bank, and Pope C. Driver, chief bookkeeper of the mail department of the American National bank, are the men who gave their opinion on all three notes.

A portion of one of the notes found near the dead girl reads:

"But that long tall black negro did boy his slef."

At the dictation of Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, Lee wrote this sentence shortly following his arrest. The same method was employed with Frank.

All three of these specimens were shown to the three handwriting experts.

Mr. Bergstrom declared that although the original note and that written by Frank had many similar points, that he still believed that the hand-writing of the negro was the same as that of the note. He pointed out that a man of Frank's intelligence could have disguised his hand more readily than the negro.

Mr. Berry refused to consider Frank's handwriting in connection with the note found near the girl.

"I have already said," he declared, "that the man who wrote this," pointing to the handwriting of Lee, "wrote this," pointing to the handwriting of the note.

He then examined Frank's handwriting closely, but refused to change his opinion.

Pope Driver also stood pat on his first opinion that the negro's handwriting was the same as that in the note.

All three experts spoke of the significant fact that in writing the note from dictation Lee had written boy for by and slef for self, thus duplicating the spelling in the note, whereas Frank has spelled five words differently from the way they were spelled in the note.

They pointed out that the t's in the note and those made by Lee were both crossed near the top, and that the last word in the note and the last word written by Lee are almost exactly alike.

They agreed, however, that the word negro written by Frank and the word negro in the note were very similar.

NEGRO WATCHMAN TELLS STORY OF FINDING GIRL'S BODY AND QUESTIONS FAIL TO SHAKE HIM

Newt Lee, Negro Who Notified Police of Mary Phagan Murder, Tells Coroner Girl's Body Was Lying Face Up With Head Toward West When He Found It – But Officers Declare They Found It Lying Face Down, Head Toward East. Knew She Was White, Said He, by Her Hair

SAYS MR. FRANK DID UNUSUAL THINGS, BUT DOES NOT DIRECTLY IMPLICATE ANYONE

Mr. Frank Met Him Outside Office Saturday Afternoon and Let Him Off for Two Hours, After Having Insisted That He Be There at 4 O'Clock—Mr. Frank Was Scared When He Saw Gantt, Says Negro—Telephoned Him That Night for First Time—Inquest Resumed at 2:15

That he found the body of Mary Phagan face up with its head toward the back of the building, was the startling evidence given at the coroner's inquest Wednesday morning by Newt Lee, the negro night watchman at the National Pencil factory in which the child was murdered.

This evidence, to which the negro has stuck without wavering is in direct conflict with the evidence of all the police officers and others who answered the negro's alarm.

They found the body lying face down with its head toward the front of the building, they all swear.

The negro swore to the coroner Wednesday, that when he scurried away from the body to the telephone, he stayed away until the officers came. He went with them—and they found the body exactly reversed from the position in which he says he found it.

Thus is mystery added to mystery in the crime.

If the negro tells the truth (and the police have been unable to shake him from his first story, however much they doubt some of its particulars), who turned the child's body over upon its face with its head in the opposite direction after he left it to go to the telephone?

WAS MURDERER STILL THERE?

Was the murderer lurking there in the gloom at the back of the basement when the negro came down the ladder?

Was it the purpose to burn the body in the furnace—which was not burning then, but which might have been lighted easily from the clutter and trash? Did the negro's descent into the basement frustrate that? And then did the murderer pull the hasp on the rear door of the basement of the basement and flee before the officers got there?

Patience and perseverance upon the part of the police, and the incessant putting together of two and two, will reveal the story.

The negro did not attempt to implicate any one, in his evidence before the coroner's jury. His evidence was damaging slightly to Mr. Frank, the superintendent, in that he said Mr. Frank sent him away from the factory from 4 to 6 o'clock, and also insisted that he be there at 4; that Mr. Frank looked frightened when he came down the stairs as the negro, after his return, met Mr. Gantt at the street door; and that Mr. Frank never had called him before, as he did over the telephone between 7 and 8 o'clock that evening, to ask if everything was all right. The obvious conflict between the officers' inability to distinguish at first whether the girl was white or black may be dismissed, perhaps, by the negro's stout assertion that he knew by her hair, which was long and brown and wavy, totally unlike that of a negro woman.

At 12:40 o'clock the coroner's inquest adjourned until 2:15 o'clock.

THINKS HE SAW HER.

J. G. Spier, of Cartersville, testified that he saw a man and a girl, the latter of whom he declared positively after seeing the body at the undertaking establishment was Mary Phagan, on Forsyth street, near the pencil factory Saturday afternoon about 3:50 o'clock. He was sure that the girl was the same whose body was pointed out to him as Mary Phagan's, he said, but was not sure of the man. The general "outline," he said was the same as the pointed out to him as Frank. He saw this couple again about 5 o'clock, he said.

The first official and public probe into the deep mystery hiding the slayer of fourteen-year-old Mary Phagan, brutally murdered and mistreated last Saturday night in the National Pencil factory, was begun in earnest Wednesday morning at 9:10 o'clock, when the coroner's jury began its examination of witnesses.

The inquest was held at police headquarters, behind the closed doors of the station, in the office of the board of commissioners. Coroner Donehoo assembled his jury again (following a recess since it was suspended last Saturday morning) at the undertaking establishment of P. J. Bloomfield on Pryor street, and marched at the head of it from there through the streets to police headquarters, preferring to go to the witnesses who were incarcerated rather than bring those witnesses to the jury.

The following witnesses were called and sworn by the coroner:

E. E. Shank.

W. J. Coleman, step-father of the murdered child.

Adam Woodward, negro nightwatchman in an adjoining livery stable, who believes he heard a woman's screams about 11 o'clock Saturday night.

Newt Lee, negro nightwatchman in the pencil factory, who first reported the finding of the body.

W. W. Rogers, former county policeman, who carried the officers to the scene of the crime.

W. F. Anderson, call officer, city police.

Sergeants Brown and Dobbs, of the city police.

Miss Pearl Robertson, friend of Arthur Mullinax, the trolley car conductor who has been held upon suspicion.

J. M. Gantt, formerly bookkeeper at the National Pencil factory.

E. L. Sentell, who believes he saw the girl on the street with some man Saturday night.

It was a noticeable fact that L. M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, was not among the witnesses called at first. His attorney, Luther Z. Rosser, was present when the inquest began its work.

Coroner Donehoo resumed his inquest upon the mysterious murder of Mary Phagan Wednesday morning, relinquishing shortly before 9 o'clock the same jury which met Monday and recessed for two days. The members of that jury are H. C. Ashford, L. Glenn Dewberry, of 352 Cooper street; J. C. Hood, of 185 Windsor street; C. A. Langford, of 144 Highland avenue; John Miller and C. Y. Sheats, of Cascade road.

Immediately upon impaneling the jury at the undertaking shop of P. J. Bloomfield on Pryor street, where the mordered girl's body had rested until it was removed for burial Tuesday, Coroner Donehoo led it away from the crowd congregated in the street in front of the establishment, marching to police headquarters. There the negro night watchman, Newt Lee, and the superintendent, L. M. Frank, of the National Pencil company, were in detention behind stout bars.

CALL OFFICER TESTIFIES.

W. F. Anderson, call officer, city police, was the first witness to be examined. He told of receiving a telephone call at police headquarters shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday morning, a man's voice informed him that the speaker was the negro night watchman at the National Pencil company factory and that he, the watchman, had found the body of a young woman who evidently had been murdered. She was a white girl, the negro said.

The witness went to the factory on Forsyth street with other officers, and was met there by the negro. Newt Lee, and was led by the negro through a trapdoor down a ladder into the basement, where after some moments he distinguished the body of the murdered girl later identified as Mary Phagan. He could not see it at first until he was almost upon it, said the officer. The body was lying in a corner beyond the end of a compartment partitioned off at the left from the main basement. It was lying upon its face. The left stocking was torn. The left shoe was missing. The left knee was bruised. The hand around the bottom of the underskirt was torn off.

GRUESOME DETAILS GIVEN.

The head was very bloody, and the eyes were bloodshot. A cord, he said, which was a sort of small rope, was tied so tightly around the neck that it cut into the flesh. This cord was about six or seven feet long. In addition to it, the hand which had been torn from the dead girl's underskirt, was wrapped round the neck.

He found a bruise just above and back of the ear. He testified that the mouth and eyes of the dead child were filled with dirt and sawdust, and that the whole face was so discolored with grime that he was not sure at first whether the girl was white.

In reply to questions he said that he hadn't noticed whether the body had been dragged across the floor of the cellar.

After examining the body he had gone to the door which offered an exit

BOOK BROKERS HAVE FLEECED MANY LAWYERS

Send Out Government Publications by Frank and Make 400 Per Cent

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—A clever scheme whereby a clevereer lot of book brokers in Washington have been gouging unsuspecting persons and reaping a harvest at the expense of the government, has been uncovered by the joint printing committee of congress. An effort will be made to check the abuse by means of an amendment to the general printing laws.

The brokers have taken advantage of the law which requires the government printing office to sell at cost all of the publications issued by the government. This list of publications covers a wide range of subjects, and many valuable books are issued at a remarkably small cost. Among other things, scores of legal works relating to federal courts and constitutional questions are published at the big government printery. They are bound in paper, and the most expensive work rarely costs over twenty cents.

The general public is not familiar with the law requiring that these government publications shall be distributed at cost, and, singularly enough, comparatively few lawyers throughout the country are aware of this provision.

IGNORANCE CAPITALIZED.

The book brokers have capitalized the ignorance of the public, more especially the lawyer, who are anxious to stock their law libraries with the latest works issued by the government.

The brokers secure from the government printing office bulletins of the late publications. Then they circularize the country with their "bargains" in books. For the sum of one dollar, they will send to any address, post paid, the United States bankruptcy laws, or the official edition of the new rules of practice in the courts of equity of the United States, as promulgated by the United States supreme court, for fifty cents, they will send an indexed pocket edition of the United States constitution, or for $5 they will send the most valuable publication—the Indian land book, an encyclopedia of Indian affairs.

The prices seem alluring to the person wanting the books. They jump at the "bargains," and they get what they pay for, and get it without delay. Few of the buyers ever discover that they have been "stung," and more often than not they have boosted the game of the Washington book brokers.

ENORMOUS PROFITS.

The extent of the brokers' profits will be appreciated when it is understood that the United States bankruptcy laws may be purchased, postpaid, direct from the government printing office for 26 cents; that the new rules of practice in the courts of equity of the United States may be had at the printing office for 10 cents, and that for a like amount the pocket edition of the indexed constitution may be obtained.

The book brokers, however, are not content with the enormous profits, and actually pay no postage on the wares they sell. They frank the books to the purchasers, and are guilty of no crime under the law. All publications issued by the government are frankable as "government documents." The stamp of the printing office suffices to carry them through the mail.

As the books are published at the printing office they are wrapped securely for mailing. The brokers deal directly with the printing office. Every day they visit the printery with the names and addresses of persons who have purchased government publications from them. They give this list of names to the superintendent, and say him the cost price of the books, pocket the difference, and the purchaser gets his "bargain" in due course of time.

The business of the brokers has grown to big proportions, and it will continue to thrive until the public learns a thing or two or congress stops it.

The matter was called to the attention of the joint printing committee by Senator Fletcher, of Florida, its chairman. A Jacksonville attorney received one of the broker's circulars, and sent a dollar for the "bargain" thus advertised. When it came under a government frank, postage free, the attorney began to think. He took up the matter with his senator.

TOBACCO AT WHOLESALE CHEAPER THAN IN 1910

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Competition is no stranger to foreign governments buying American tobacco, according to W. G. Dunington, buyer for the Italian government, who testified today before the joint congressional tobacco committee. Until about three years ago Mr. Dunington was also a buyer for the Austrian government.

Tobacco is cheaper now on warehouse floors than it was three years ago, Mr. Dunington said, but he was unable to give any explanation for the decrease in price. He expressed the opinion that the character of the crops did not account for it.

Mr. Dunington declared the Italian government was willing to meet competition and expressed the belief that had it not been for the competition of the Italian government the Kentucky growers would not be able to conduct a profitable business.

WATER STANDS IN MANY TOWNS IN LOUISIANA

People of Ferriday Go About Business in Boats—Very Little Suffering

(By Associated Press.)

VIDALIA, La., April 30.—The continued crumbling of the Mississippi river levee at the break near Gibson's landing, which is now about 2,000 feet wide, has increased the volume of water pouring out over Concordia and adjoining parishes and this section probably will be flooded to a depth of at least one foot in excess of high water stage of last year, when the same territory was flooded by crevasses at Alsatia and further north.

The town of Ferriday, which is an important railroad junction with a population of 1,000, is covered with two to five feet of water, but there is no current in the water there and the residents are riding about the streets in skiffs, worrying very little about the water. The bank at Ferriday has been temporarily moved to a second floor and merchandise in the stores has been placed on scaffolding about four feet above the floors.

Back water from the crevasse has spread thirteen miles north and is in the streets of Waterproof, but the citizens of that place are not alarmed, as they do not expect the water to reach a dangerous depth.

The water is spreading rapidly over the swamps north of Vidalia and is expected to reach Lake Providence Friday. A mud box seventy feet long, twelve feet wide and twelve feet deep, is being constructed across the railroad gap in the protection embankment and it is believed the water can be kept out of the town.

Several hundred additional refugees were taken to Natchez from Vidalia and from the levees north of here last night and early this morning.

Little Encouragement for Flood Fighters on Levees

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 30.—Notwithstanding the great volume of water pouring through the big gap in the Louisiana levee near Gibson's Landing, the Mississippi river remained stationary at Vicksburg during the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. today and at Natchez there was a fall of but one-tenth of a foot.

This is not encouraging data for the engineers who are fighting to save the remaining levees as it indicates that a greater quantity of return water than was anticipated from the crevasse near Mayersville, Miss., is flowing back into the river at Vicksburg through the Sunflower and Yazoo rivers.

Had not the break occurred near Gibson's Landing Sunday, it is believed that the river stages between Vicksburg and Natchez today would be at least two feet above all previous records.

There was a fall of three-tenths at Baton Rouge and two-tenths at Donaldsonville. At New Orleans the gauge was stationary.

A rise of several inches a day is expected from Red river landing south, beginning about Friday, with the return of the water from the Gibson's Landing crevasse. While the levees are in better shape than last year at all points south of Red river to the gulf, they have been subjected to the strain of flood water continuously since the January rise and if there are additional breaks they will not be altogether unexpected. The levee at Remy, 13 miles north of New Orleans, is again in bad condition and 1,000 men are working hard to prevent a crevasse.

There are other dangerous spots in the levees near the Hymella crevasse of last spring and further up the river, near Bayou Sara, there is considerable danger.

The levees just above New Orleans, including the protection dikes which extend from the river back to Lake Pontchartrain, were inspected yesterday and declared to be safe.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.—Two of the senate bills designed to reform methods of the New York stock exchange were passed by the assembly last night. One would make it a felony to make false statements or advertisements as to the securities or financial condition of a corporation or association. WILSON INTENDS TO BE THE REAL PARTY LEADER

President Plans Coalition of Congressional and Democratic Nat. Committees

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Explanations about President Wilson's intervention in the affairs of the Democratic congressional committee were forthcoming today. These explanations not only served to clear away some misapprehensions, but further emphasized the fact that Mr. Wilson intends to lead the party in all its varied activities.

The president did not ask that the meeting ow the committee, for the purpose of electing a chairman, be delayed two weeks, because he was opposed to the selection of Representative Johnson, of Kentucky, as chairman, Johnson's friends thought so last night, but they know differently today.

The sole motive of the president was to give him time to conclude plans for the coalition of the congressional committee and the Democratic national committee. Instead of having them as separate, independent bodies although they have a common end, he wants to bring them into co-ordination with each other. In other words, he wants efficiency and economy applied in the organization of the machinery for running the party. For obvious reasons the president is just as keenly interested in the selection of a Democratic house in 1914 as are the members of the house, it is essential to the success of his administration and to bring that about the president will take the stump himself in the congressional election, just as he has taken to it in Jersey in the legislative elections.

The plans for bringing about closer co-operation between the national committee and the congressional committee was started by the president and Representative Lloyd, the retiring congressional chairman, at Sea Girt, when the campaign started last summer.

RAILROADS CLAIM THAT INCREASE IS NECESSARY

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 30.—Revenue increase for railroads is necessary if the country's traffic is to be handled properly, Benjamin F. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific railway, declared in an address before the Economic club last night. Railroad expenses have increased steadily in recent years, he asserted, whereas compensation received has decreased.

"If the railroads are not allowed to charge a compensation yielding a fair return on the investment with a reasonable surplus for betterments, improvements and the establishment of their credit," he said, "the task of meeting the situation is hopeless."

William C. Brown, president of the New York Central, declared that the impression is rapidly gaining ground that the public through the interstate commerce commission is not allowing railways sufficient provision for properly meeting the demands made upon them. Frederic Delanc, president of the Wabash, criticized the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for supporting the declared anti-railroad laws and accused the organization of lobbying to compel railroads to employ unnecessary men. He urged for strong headed control of railroads, nation-wide lines to be regulated by the nation.

REBELS IN PORTUGAL FREE ALLIED PRISONERS

Board Cruiser at Night and Demand Release of Captive Officers

(By Associated Press.)

LISBON, April 30.—Revolutionaries by a daring plan secured the release during the night of a number of prisoners arrested during Sunday's political disturbances, and confined on board the Portuguese cruiser Republica in the harbor.

Several boats filled with armed men dressed as sailors clambored on board the cruiser at 2 o'clock in the morning and demanded that the prisoners be handed over to them. At the same moment three shots were fired from the guns on the cruiser so that it appeared as though the affair was being carried out with the connivance of the officers and crew.

The prisoners were then given up by their guards and landed before the naval authorities in the harbor understood what was going on. They had disappeared before any action could be taken against them.

The firing from the cruiser caused great alarm in the capital, many people assuming that a fresh revolution had broken out.

The monarchist papers, Dia and Nacao, and a Socialist journal have been suspended by the civil government in spite of their protests that they had not violated the press law.

Martial law has not yet been proclaimed in the capital.

ROME COUNCIL ROWS OVER CITY OFFICERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., April 30.—At the next meeting of city council an attempt will be made to dislodge from office Fred Hanson, plumbing inspector, and D. B. Eryan, sanitary inspector. The fight to accomplish this is headed by Alderman W. L. Daniel, who makes the statement that 90 per cent of the public is dissatisfied with these two officers.

However, they are not without their friends on the council, and a close vote is expected. Advocates of the removal of the two men claim that the two offices can be consolidated and the work of both performed by one man, thereby saving the city at least $900 per annum.

Improve City Police

ROME, Ga., April 30.—Important improvements will be made in the police department of the city of Rome. A detention ward or special department for white women prisoners will be added to the city jail, two motorcycles will be purchased, and two patrolmen mounted on these.

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts Regarding Health Statistics

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1910, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and they will gladly forward it to you absolutely free, by mail.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.—(Advt.)

A Thorough Way to Select Titles

While waiting for a car at Marietta and Broad streets last evening, the Campaign Editor heard one of the Booklovers telling another his plan of working out titles. "You may think," said he, "that my plan is long-drawn-out and tedious, but it is so interesting that I do not find it tedious. I just look over my pictures and thoroughly familiarize myself with them—that is, all the pictures up to a certain number. Then some evening, when I have about two hours to spare, I take the catalogue, going through it slowly from A to Z, writing in next all the t me the pictures I am looking up titles for. Working this way, you will be surprised how many titles you will find that will fit the pictures, and you will also find them in unexpected places. To illustrate: You have a picture that suggests 'two' to you, and you look for it in the T column; if it is there, or if it is not, in the G column if it is girls, and when you get over into the W column you may hit it right there in the title, 'We Two.' Try that plan once, and you will find yourself getting more correct answers than you are right now. You will become so much interested that when you are all through and have your set of answers ready to turn in you will let them go with a certain amount of regret. It seems like giving up a good old friend. I was in the Journal's Campaign last year, and enjoyed it very much, and I am certainly adjoring this one, too. It does not make any difference whether I win or lose, it will be worth while."

BOOKLOVERS' QUERIES.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 26, 1913.

Manager Booklovers' Contest, Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.:

Dear Sir—Suppose a contestant took ten answers to each question, and one of those ten answers was correct in each case. In other words, suppose that one out of the ten answers was correct. Then suppose another contestant only took one answer to each question, and that one answer was correct in each case, would the two contestants tie?

Please answer through your column, and oblige K. K.

Answer K. K.—The one using the least number of answers would take the first prize, and if there were no better set of answers in, the other one would take second prize. There is hardly a possibility of a contestant having all correct, using only one of each answer. We do not know of a case where it was ever done.

Send for our postage circular giving you the complete prize list, the rules and other valuable information.

KINDERGARTEN DELEGATES BUSY WITH THEIR WORK

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Delegates to the convention of the International Kindergarten union, today settled down to routine committee work. A large number of reports were to be made and, although the delegates had set aside the day for less serious effort, they were compelled to postpone the children's play festival in the grounds of the national museum because rains of the past two days had rendered the lawns unfit. The festival was postponed until Friday.

The visitors were looking forward eagerly to their reception later in the day at the White House, where they will be greeted by President and Mrs. Wilson and their daughters.

Later in the afternoon they will be given a reception by local members of the organization and the day's program will end with a night meeting in Memorial Continental hall, at which speakers will be Miss Susan E. Blow, of Cazenovia, N. Y.; Miss Patty S. Hill and Miss Fannie Bell Curtis, both of New York City.

NEW BAGGAGE RULE IN FORCE WEDNESDAY

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 30.—Forty-five inches is the longest trunk that may be carried as free baggage on railroads in the United States after today. Also the new rules frown on the trunk with bulging sides, or bottom, designed so that it must stand in a certain position, so the gowns and hats inside will travel right side up. It may be some time, however, before "freak" trunks can be refused. Notice is required in order to reject them lawfully.

Five pounds for each inch over forty-five inches is the rate of excess charge that will be levied under the new baggage rules.

BUDGET COMMITTEE CUTS GERMAN CAVALRY DOWN

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, April 30.—The German army bill was again before the budget committee of the imperial parliament today. An important amendment was voted, the demand of the government for six new cavalry regiments being cut down to three. This change was adopted by 16 to 12, some of the committeemen arguing that cavalry had become less necessary owing to the development of aviation and the virtual abolition of cavalry charges.

ILL HEALTH NOT PARDON GROUND, SAYS GOVERNOR

States Does Not Guarantee Good Health to Convicts, He Says

That ill health is not ground for pardon, because if all the men in penitentiaries whose health is bad were pardoned, then the penitentiaries would soon be nearly emptied, is the position taken by Governor Brown Wednesday in denying a pardon to Berry Cannon, a negro serving a life sentence for murder in Johnson county.

On the application Governor Brown wrote the following words:

"Am unable to approve clemency. This seems to have been an unjustifiable killing. The only reason urged for releasing the man from the penitentiary is his ill health. If pardons were based solely on this plea, practically all convicts would soon be in the hospitals. The state does not guarantee good health to those immured for crime. All persons out of the penitentiary occasionally get sick and ultimately die."

Cannon began his term in April 1907, and is now claimed to have tuberculosis.

DECATUR "CLEANED UP" BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Board of Trade Awards Prizes to Winners—Campaign Big Success

The clean-up campaign inaugurated by the Decatur board of trade was brought to a very successful close Tuesday when prizes were awarded the successful workers.

The contest to have clean-up pledges signed resulted as follows: Dora Mayne Cole 181, Paul Clark 106, Adelaide McLennan 62, Mildred Garwood 58, Frances Mason 46, Charles Dabney 35, Frasier Wilson 34, Annie Mae McCrary 22. These boys and girls were awarded prizes. The total number of pledges signed was 556.

In the contest for the collection of tin cans and bottles the winners and the number they collected is as follows: Albert Bangs 907, McKinney Gash 848, George Hollingsworth 829, Nathaniel Pratt 561, Clarence Hinton 486. The total number of cans and bottles collected this year was 3,566.

A comparison of the number of cans and bottles collected last year with those collected in this campaign notes an interesting fact. The number last year was about 20,000 as against 3,566 this year, and is conclusive evidence of the value of this work.

Decatur has a garbage can ordinance which goes into effect May 1, and its enforcement will result in an even greater scarcity of cans and bottles.

A HAPPY CHILD IN A FEW HOURS

When Cross, Feverish, Tongue Coated or Bilious, Give Delicious "Syrup of Figs"

Mother! look at the tongue! see if it is coated. If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and thirty feet of bowels are filled with poisons and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours the foul, decaying constipated matter, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well and smiling child shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

DROPSY cured. Shortness of breath relieved in a few hours, swelling reduced in a few days, uric acid and poisonous matter removed from the system, regulates the liver, kidneys and bowels, corrects the stomach, digestion and heart, purifies the blood and strengthens the system. Extra Sales People to Insure Prompt Attention

$31,000 of New Silks for About $16,500

---Rich's Annual May Silk Clearance starts tomorrow at 8:30 sharp.

---This is not a sale of shelf-weary tag ends, "buyer's mistakes," tender silks nor off shades. It is just the reverse---a sale of all the year round staple grades and silks highest in Fashion's favor.

Planned originally to profit by trade conditions---to help manufacturers and jobbers dispose of their surplus stocks, this May Sale has grown to be the largest trade movement of its kind in the South.

Manufacturers and jobbers so recognize it---they know that no lot of silks is too large for us to handle if style, quality and prices are right. So we get first choice of their surplus stocks---it saves them time and "peddling around."

Fully three-fourths of the silks in this sale are such surplus stocks---secured by our buyer on his special New York trip---and offered tomorrow for the very first time.

The other silks come from our own select stock---silks which have been selling freely at their full prices of a third to a half more than tomorrow's figure.

Some of the silks are displayed in the window; the rest of them will be shown in the Silk Annex tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock.

LOWRY BANK RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF JOS. T. ORME

Late Vice President of That Institution Also Praised by Chamber of Commerce

Resolutions expressing sorrow over the death of Mr. Joseph T. Orme, who was vice president of the Lowry National bank, and testifying to his high ability and his worth as a citizen, have been adopted by the board of directors of the bank, and similar resolutions have been adopted by the board of directors of the Atlanta chamber of commerce.

The former are as follows:

"Whereas, Joseph Thompson Orme, our esteemed vice president, passed away March 31, 1913. He was connected with this bank for thirty-seven years, having started as a boy of sixteen, and this board, deeply feeling its loss, expresses its resolutions of sincere regret, and offers its sympathy to his bereaved family.

"As a banker, his sterling character inspired confidence; he was devoted to the duties of his profession, and the influence and example of such a man are of great value to the business community.

"As a banker in Atlanta, and throughout the country, who has been brought in contact with him, will bear witness to his superb business qualifications, as well as the purity of his character, his sincerity, and his straight forward integrity.

"As a member of this board, he was ever ready to perform any service, and to offer his best counsel and advice, when called upon. Although unobtrusive, he was ever firm and consistent, and faithful in the performance of duty.

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the board of directors of the Lowry National bank of Atlanta:

"1. That in the death of Joseph Thompson Orme the members of this board deeply feel their personal loss of a loyal and faithful friend.

"2. That this bank has lost one of its most respected and efficient officers.

"3. That the banking profession has in his excellent character an example for the younger members worthy of their emulation.

"4. That this community has lost a noble, energetic and unselfish citizen, who was devoted to its interests.

"5. That we tender our sympathies to his bereaved family, that copies of these resolutions be given to them and the local press, and that a page of our minutes be set apart for a permanent record of same.

(Signed)

"THOMAS EGLESTON,
"JOHN E. MURPHY,
"SAMUEL M. INMAN,
"ROBERT J. LOWRY,
"Committee."

CHAMBER RESOLUTIONS.

The chamber of commerce resolutions read as follows:

"Whereas, Providence has removed from this life Mr. Joseph T. Orme, a member and a director of this body, who has served it as treasurer for many years.

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the directors of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, that in the death of Mr. Orme this chamber loses a valued member and an honored officer, and the community an upright citizen whose life and labor have contributed much to the making of the city.

"Resolved further, That we extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy and that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to them and to the press.

(Signed)

"WILMER L. MOORE, President.
"W. G. COOPER, Secretary."

"Wealth has its penalties," said the ready-made philosopher.

"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox. "I'd rather be back at the dear old factory than learning to pronounce the names of the old masters in my picture gallery."—Washington Star.

STREET CAR SMASHES INTO AN AUTOMOBILE

Rear Wheel of Machine Driven by G. B. Greenwood Demolished

When a South Pryor to Federal Prison trolley smashed into the rear end of the blue racing automobile owned and driven by G. B. Greenwood, manager of the United Booking offices here, at the intersection of Pryor and Fulton streets Wednesday morning shortly after 9 o'clock, the left hind wheel of the machine was completely demolished, the running board badly bent and the brake drum mashed.

According to Mr. Greenwood, who had just left his garage that opens on Fulton street from the rear of his residence, 315 South Pryor, he was crossing the tracks on Pryor toward town, when the street car coming out Pryor, at high speed struck his automobile.

The force of the blow was such as to completely lift the machine from the outgoing track and throw it facing in the opposite direction on the track back to the city. Two incoming trolleys were blocked while the wrecked auto was being removed over to the curbing.

Mr Greenwood complained of his back being severely wrenched from the sudden impact. The motorman of the car that struck him did not ring his gong, he said, and was approaching so fast when first seen that it was impossible to get out of harm's way.

THEATERS

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
LYRIC—"Billy, the Kid."
ATLANTA—"A Butterfly on the Wheel."
BIJOU—Vaudeville and pictures.

A rare bill of vaudeville is being offered this week at the Forsyth. A more fitting program than the one that is being used to re-establish the busy theater could not have been selected. It is a winner from the first act to the feature that closes each performance. The theater has been packed at four performances, and an advance sale has been registered that means that the S. R. O. sign is soon to do duty after quite a long rest in the Atlanta theaters.

There is no question that local theatergoers evidence a real preference for vaudeville, particularly at this time of the year. The Forsyth is splendidly adapted for it and when the heated term commences the house will be just as comfortable as it was during the two summer seasons it so well stood the test.

Everybody seems delighted with the fact that the busy theater is again open with vaudeville and all day long there is a line in front of the box office. The headliner of the current bill is Sophye Barnard, Loo Anger & Co., in "The Song of the Heart," a pretty musical playlet in one act. It is handled splendidly by the principals and the supporting company. Charles Richards, the English comedian, is clever and Gaby, the poat artist, offers a novelty that is the talk of the town. There will be daily bargain matinee and evening performances.

SUFFRAGETTE HEADQUARTERS RAIDED BY COPS

The squad of police were commanded by Superintendent Patrick Quinn, of Scotland Yard, who has been placed in charge of a department for dealing with the suffragettes.

Veterans Name Officers

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WEST POINT, Ga., April 30.—The annual election of officers for West Point camp, U. C. V., resulted as follows: Commander, J. H. Brooker; adjutant, G. W. Shealey; chaplain, R. B. Morrow; surgeon, J. H. Horsley; secretary, E. F. Lanier. Delegates named to the reunion at Chattanooga: E. J. Collins and J. D. Mallery; alternates, B. F. McGhee and J. W. Morris.

CITY BOARD MEMBERS REMINDED OF EGG HUNT

Hunt Committee Asks Them Not to Overlook "Those Little Envelopes"

Not quite enough money has been raised to defray the expenses of the big Easter egg hunt next Saturday in Grant Park, but there will be enough if all the members of departmental boards of the city, who have been asked to give $1 each, will send in their donations, and the committee takes this method of reminding them of a letter sent out a few days ago.

There are about 75 board members in all, and 17 of them, in response to the committee's letter, have sent in their dollars. These 17 are as follows: J. A. Fischer, W. E. Dunn, M. M. Anderson, W. E. Quillian, T. L. Bond, G. Y. Pierce, C. I. B. Ganan, F. G. Lake, James L. Key, C. H. Kelley, W. L. Gilbert, John J. Woodside, J. O. Cochran, W. J. Davis, T. O. Poole, R. J. Lowry and W. W. Hildebrand.

To the balance, the hunt committee, through The Journal, says: Don't overlook that little stamped envelope, gentlemen, and come to the front if you want to have $100 worth of fun."

The hunt promises to be the largest and best ever held.

Coming later in the spring than usual, the hunt will have the advantage of warmer weather, thicker grass to hide the eggs, and trees in full leaf, and shrubs and flowers abloom.

The hunt is limited to children twelve years of age and under. They boundary lines of the area where the eggs are hidden, and when the band plays Dixie they will star for the eggs.

Three o'clock is the hour when this signal will be given. The band will play on top of a hill in the middle of the egg area where all the children can hear it palnly.

Mounted policemen will preserve order and protect the children. Horse-drawn vehicles will be excluded from the park after 12 o'clock Saturday. Special cars will take the children to and from the parks.

His clothing caught fire and he was so feeble he was unable to extinguish the flames. Persons who went to his assistance were unable to break into the house before he was so badly burned that he died.

WHILE AT THEATER ZIMMER LOSES AUTO

Thief Drives Away in Machine While Genial "Bill" Enjoys Show

Will V. Zimmer, better known to his friends as genial "Bill" Zimmer, game warden extraordinary of Fulton county, walked to Kimballville farm, where he resides Tuesday night unless he hired a taxi or other conveyance for the long trip.

Mr. Zimmer drove down to the Lyric theater in his Buick No. 12600 Ga., early in the evening to see the show and failed to hitch his steed on the outside.

When the performance was over and the owner came out, the car was nowhere to be seen. The police were notified and are still searching for the runaway auto.

If "Bill" gets it back, he is going to chain it in the future, he says.

COMPLETE SUMMARY OF TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES AT INQUEST

from the cellar, and there he found that staple on the inside had been drawn, and that the door had been opened by this means.

LANTERN LIGHT DIM.

At this point, Dr. J W. Hurt took up the questioning and brought out an important fact from the witness.

He asked the witness what sort of light he had used in the cellar. The officer said that it was the usual police flashlight light. Then he inquired the sort of light used by Newt Lee, the negro night watchman. The officer answered that it was a lantern, very much smoked, which gave only a dim light.

Lee has told the police that he noticed the body as he stood twenty or thirty feet away.

"Could he have seen twenty or thirty feet with this lantern?" asked Dr. Hurt.

"He could not," answered Officer Anderson. "He couldn't have seen more than twelve or fifteen feet. And I also think that the place where he says he was standing is in such a position that rays from the lantern would not have even fallen in the direction of the body."

He also testified that the reason which the negro gave for going to the cellar was not convincing.

BASEMENT DESCRIBED.

He was present, said the witness, when somebody picked up a note near the body. He identified it as the one written on a slip of yellow paper. Later somebody found another note. He didn't identify that. About five feet from the girl's body a pencil was found. Near it was a pad from which the slip evidently had been torn. He described the basement—a long, narrow enclosure between rock walls, with the elevator shaft near the front, a boiler on the right about half way back, a partition on the left shutting in an enclosure which seemed to be waste space, an open toilet on the right beyond the boiler, the girl's body was left beyond that, and a door at the back end. The girl's left slipper was found near the elevator. She wore no hat that he couldn't find. He didn't remember distinctly how she was dressed, but believed it was in some dark material.

SERGEANT BROWN TESTIFIES.

Sergeant R. J. Brown gave evidence putting heavy suspicion upon the negro night watchman, Newt Lee. Call Officer Anderson had testified that the negro told him over the telephone that the body was that of a young white woman.

Sergeant Brown declared that he and his brother officers found it impossible to tell whether it was the body of a white or a colored girl until they made a minute examination.

He described revolting details. He said that the negro's story that he (the negro) first saw the body when he was standing some twenty-five feet away from it, seemed improbable to the officers, for they stood there and could not see it by the light of the negro's lantern, nor could they make it out until they were within just a few feet of it.

It was only after a minute examination, said the sergeant, that he and the other officers concluded that the negro's statement was right, that the body was that of a white person.

BODY WAS COLD.

"This is nothing but a child!" the officer said he exclaimed, when he first saw the body closely. The body was cold then and was somewhat still, said he.

"I couldn't tell whether it was a white girl or a colored girl. I took some shavings from around there and rubbed her face with them. Still I couldn't tell whether her skin was white or dark. Finally I had to roll the stocking down from the right knee—the other being torn and dirty; and then I saw her white skin."

The officer said the body was fearfully dirty—particularly the face. There was a place on the dirt floor of the basement that looked as if something might have been dragged there. He did not believe that all of the dirt that waso n the child's face could have gotten there simply from the body's lying upon the dirt floor. Dirt was inside the child's mouth, even. Her tongue was swollen, and protruded almost to the point of her chin, showing she had choked to death. A piece of heavy twine was tied tightly around her neck. A strip from about the bottom of her underskirt was tied around her neck, too. He knew it was from her underskirt, because the lace is matched the lace on her skirt, and a strip was missing there. The hands were folded beneath the body. They were not tied. He described the surrounding circumstances that he found—a lock on a staple near the back door, the staple having been pulled out. The negro night watchman's lantern was of an ordinary type, said he, and had not been cleaned in some time its globe being dirty and its light dim. Lee, the negro, told him that he (the negro) rarely went into the basement, but gave a reasonable excuse for his presence there when he found the body.

GAVE LITTLE INFORMATION.

Sergeant Brown testified that Newt Lee gave them little information upon their arrival at the pencil factory. He said that the negro did not tell them whether he had touched the corpse.

He was questioned as to what had telephoned to Frank, and he said that Officer Anderson endeavored to reach Frank over the phone. The officer told central that a girl had been murdered and that it was of utmost importance that he be given the number that he asked. But although the operator kept ringing repeatedly, he got no answer. It was not until much later Sunday morning that the police were able to get into communication with Frank.

He testified that the negro would have found it almost impossible to see the body from the position in which Newt Lee said that he was standing at the time he made his grewsome discovery.

He continued his testimony by saying that the girl's clothing was badly disordered and torn, and that the cord around her neck looped in the back. The band which was also bound round the neck was in two pieces which had been tied together. The tongue, he said, protruded an inch, and the blood upon the face was cold.

In his opinion the band from the underskirt had been tied about the neck before the rope, and that Mary Phagan was strangled to death.

CLOTHES ARE EXHIBITED.

When his testimony had been concluded a dramatic incident took place. The clothes that the girl had worn were brought forward for the jury to see, and were placed in a heap on a chair. There was a commotion at the side of the room. The brother of Mary Phagan rose, and for a moment remained staring at the heap in the chair. Without speaking, he clasped his hands to his head and pushed his way from the room.

Officer Anderson was recalled and testified that he found the body lying face downward, although Newt Lee had said that the body lay face upward.

He said that the legs of the body were not stiff, and that blood in the hair was still moist. Blood, he said, was still flowing from the body. According to his testimony, the head of the body lay toward Forsyth street, and there were signs in the cellar of a struggle.

The clothes which were shown to the jury consisted in a one-piece purple dress, with white trimmings. Only one shoe, a black gun-metal slipper, was displayed.

HE FOUND THE NOTES.

Sergeant L. S. Dobbs identified the two notes as having been found by himself near the body. One was written on yellow paper, the other on rough scratch pad paper. The elevator shaft, said he, is distant about 150 feet from where the body was found. He told of the minute examination that had to be made to determine whether or not the body was that of a white girl. Her hands looked as if she had been dragged face downward.

On the back of her head at the left was a wound. Cuts were on her face and forehead. The sergeant said he called Newt Lee, the negro, to him and said: "You did this or you know who did it." The negro denied any guilt, said the sergeant.

The sergeant said that then he read one of the notes to the negro, with a sentence like this:

"Mommer. Tall black thin negro did this. He will try to lay it on night—"

The sentence came to the end of a line there, said the sergeant.

"That means me," the sergeant said the negro night watchman said immediately. "The night watchman."

Later, said the sergeant, he stood where the negro said he was standing when he saw the body, and tried to see it. He even went so far as to have a fellow officer lie down where the body had been. But though it was daylight, he barely could discern the officer there, said the sergeant. Nor would he have seen him at all had not been looking particularly toward that spot with a definite purpose. By the light of a dim lantern, it would have been practically impossible for the negro to have stood where he declared, said he, and seen the body in the gloom partially behind the corner of the partition and slightly below floor level.

The staple taken from the rear door could not have been pulled off save from the inside, said he. A piece of iron nearby might have been used to prize it out, said he.

Sergeant Dobbs, in reply to a question as to whether he thought the body had been dragged, said that after daylight had come he noticed a trail leading from the elevator shaft to where the body had been found.

COULDN'T HAVE CARRIED BODY.

In his opinion an ordinary man could not have carried the body down the ladder to the basement. The elevator, Sergeant Dobbs said, was on the first floor, on the Forsyth street level.

The girl's left shoe, Sergeant Dobbs said, was found alongside her hat on a garbage pile about 100 feet from the elevator and about 50 feet from the body. The boiler, in which there was no fire, was also about 100 feet from the elevator and 50 feet from the body, alongside the trail.

The notes, the witness said, were found almost together near the head, about two feet from the partition. There was no opening in the partition that he saw.

Sergeant Dobbs said that when he entered the basement he was three or four feet from the body before he saw it. The negro was leading the way, he said.

Sergeant Dobbs said the body was cold when he first saw it. He felt of the face and hands and knees. The finger joints were not stiff and could be worked back and forth easily, he said. Having had no experience with dead bodies, the witness said he could not estimate how long the girl had been dead when he found her.

NO ONE IN BUILDING, HE SAID.

Sergeant Dobbs said the negro told him no one had been in the building since he started to work at 6 o'clock Saturday night.

The girl's body was taken from the basement out the back way by the undertaker's. Sergeant Dobbs said, some time after daylight—about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, he thought.

Britt Craig, a newspaper reporter, was then called.

At 11:45 o'clock the negro night watchman, Newt Lee, was called to the stand by the coroner.

He said that he lives at 40 Henry street. Usually he went to his work about 6 o'clock as night watchman at the pencil factory, he said. Last Friday Mr. Frank, the superintendent, told him to come earlier, at 4, on Saturday, saying it would be a half holiday. Mr. Frank spoke to him two or three times about it during the day, said he. He appeared at the factory at 4 o'clock, accordingly, and found the street door unlocked but the double doors leading to the plant were locked. He has keys to the front and back of the factory, said the negro.

FRANK LETS LEE GO.

He went into the office and Mr. Frank came into the outer office from the inner office, rubbing his hands.

"I'm here, sir, the negro said he remarked to his employer.

"I'm sorry, Newt, that I had you come here so soon," the negro said Mr. Frank told him. "Go out and have some fun. Come back in about an hour and a half, but don't stay later than the usual time"—6 o'clock.

The negro said he left and returned at 6 o'clock.

The negro said that after coming to work each evening at 6 o'clock he punched the time clock, and started on his rounds of the four floors of the factory. Those rounds usually took him half an hour, he said, exclusive of the basement. If the half hour had not quite expired when he reached the clock, sometimes he went to the basement, too, said he; otherwise he omitted the basement and resumed his round.

COULDN'T SEE INTO OFFICE.

The negro said that usually Mr. Frank called him into the office, and that it was contrary to the usual custom when Mr. Frank came out into the outer office and met him. He couldn't see into the office, said the negro, or tell whether there was anybody else inside.

The negro said he left, going up Forsyth street to Alabama, east on Alabama to Broad, across the bridge, along Viaduct way to the Whitehall viaduct and down the stairs into Wall street and along that street to Central avenue, where he found a big fat man selling some sort of medicine. The man had some negroes there, eating fire and dancing, said Newt Lee. He stayed there until time to go back to work, and got back to the factory two or three minutes, or perhaps four minutes, before 6 o'clock. Mr. Frank was already there. He started to punch the clock. Mr. Frank told him to wait, that there had been only two or three there that day and the slip had been taken from the clock. Mr. Frank came out and the two of them put the slip back on, said the negro, and he punched the clock at 6.

Mr. Frank went back into the office, said the negro, and he himself went back downstairs to close the doors. At the street door he met Mr. Gantt, formerly a bookkeeper in the office, said the negro, Mr. Gantt wanted to get in the clock. Mr. Frank came out and the two of them put the slip back on, said the negro, and he punched the clock at 6.

Mr. Frank went back into the office, said the negro, and he himself went back downstairs to close the doors. At the street door he met Mr. Gantt, formerly a bookkeeper in the office, said the negro, Mr. Gantt wanted to get in and get some old shoes that he had left there. The negro told him it was against the rules, but that if Mr. Frank who was upstairs, said so, he would let Mr. Gantt in.

At Mr. Gantt's request that he ask Mr. Frank, he turned from the door, and saw Mr. Frank just coming down the stairs from the office and machine room floor. Mr. Frank looked scared, said the negro, but he thought it was because he was afraid Mr. Gantt might have come there "to do him dirt," because Frank and Gantt had quarreled and the former had discharged the bookkeeper some weeks before. Mr. Gantt stated his case to Mr. Frank. "What kind of shoes were they?" Mr. Frank asked. "Tan," Mr. Gantt replied. "I think I saw the negroes sweeping them out this morning," said Mr. Frank. "But I had some black ones, too," said Gantt. "All right, Newt," said Mr. Frank. "Take him up there and stay with him." Mr. Frank went on out, said the negro, and he went up into the office with Mr. Gantt and got the shoes. The negro gave him some little red twine and some paper to wrap the shoes up. Mr. Gantt wanted to use the telephone, and the negro told him to go ahead. Mr. Gantt called some lady. "I know it was a lady because I heard him call her name," said the negro. He couldn't remember the name. Mr. Gantt told her he would be home about 9 o'clock or a little later. He talked some time, then hung up the receiver and left. The negro locked the street door behind him, and then because Mr. Frank had told him to watch Mr. Gantt, he stoor there at the glass door and watched him leave. Mr. Gantt crossed the street, passed in front of the saloon there, and went on off up the street, said the negro.

The negro said that he did not see Gantt at 4 o'clock when he first came to work. He did not watch Mr. Frank when he left, said the negro. Frank had a key to the building and could have returned while the negro and Gantt were upstairs. The negro said he did not go to the basement when he first came at 4 o'clock. He was asked if there was a rug or carpet in Mr. Frank's office, and replied no. He knew because he cleaned it every night.

Mr. Frank offered him some bananas when he was there the first time, said the negro, but he declined the fruit.

GANTT THERE HALF AN HOUR.

It took Gantt "no time at all" to find the shoes, said the negro. Gantt was in the building about half an hour. He did not know where Mr. Frank was during this time. He thought Mr. Frank walked away from the building toward Alabama. The first time he ever saw Mr. Frank, said the negro, was when he came to work there about three weeks before the crime.

After making the rounds of the building, or about 7 o'clock, he went to the basement, said the negro.

Machinery is on the second floor and on the top floor. Gantt got the shoes out of the shipping department near the clock on the second floor.

Lee said he went up the basement by way of the ladder through the trap door. A gas light always burned near the foot of the ladder. The gas was not as high as he had left it as 7 o'clock that morning. It had been turned down to about the size of the lightning bug. He received a phone message from Mr. Frank between 7 and 8 o'clock. Other members of the force had called him on previous nights occasionally, but this was the first time that Mr. Frank had called him. Mr. Frank asked if everything was "all right," and the negro replied, "So far as I know."

BODY WAS FACE UP.

The negro said that the body was lying face up when he discovered it.

Other witnesses who came later swore it lay face down when they found it.

This contradicted the evidence of all the policemen.

He was asked the point blank question by the coroner:

"Why did you turn it over?"

"I didn't turn it over," said the negro.

He said he punched the clock every half hour during Saturday night.

"What did Mr. Frank say on Sunday about that clock not being right?" he was asked.

"He said it was all right," replied the negro.

He was asked to repeat his story of how he found the body. He went down the ladder to go to the basement, and went into the toilet, leaving his lantern in front of it upon the ground. On coming out, he saw the body of the girl lying on the ground around the corner of the partition. It looked very vague. Somebody was standing up put something there to frighten him. He found the body lying on its back with the head turned toward Madison avenue (exactly the reverse of the position the officers found it in). He saw blood on the face and knew by the straight hair that it was the body of a white woman.

"It scared me, that body there," said the negro, "and I called up the station house."

"How did you know the number?" asked the coroner.

Mr. Frank had given it to him, said the negro, for use in case of fire or anything unusual. "He gave me his own number, too, to call him up in case I wanted him."

The coroner asked him if he touched the body when he found it.

He said "No, sir, I did not."

He did not go back to the basement until the police came.

He went through the machine room in which the girl was supposed to have been attacked, every 15 minutes, in making his rounds of the building. He had to pass through it, he said, on his rounds.

PUNCHED CLOCK REGULARLY.

In answer to a question, the negro said that Mr. Frank and Mr. Darley told him that he had punched the clock regularly. He had thought that was on Sunday after he had been arrested, said the negro.

Answering another question, the negro said that when he returned with the police the body was "just the same" as when he first saw it.

The negro admitted that he said over the telephone that the body was that of a white woman. His lantern had been cleaned Friday, he said, and was in fairly good condition. He had never seen the dead girl before he found her body. The girls employed in the factory always left before he came to work, and he left before they came back. The factory work stopped eoch day at 5:30 o'clock, and he came on duty at 6 o'clock. He had seen the back door open in the daytime, he said, and he thought the fireman—a negro named Knolley—had a key to it.

Policeman Anderson corroborated the negro's statement about the gas jet being a very dim light.

GIRL AND MAN NEAR FACTORY.

J. G. Spier, of Cartersville, in Atlanta Saturday, testified that he walked from the Kimball house down Forsyth street to the Terminal station with a friend Saturday afternoon and reached the Terminal station at exactly 5:30 o'clock. When he went by the National Pencil company's place, on his way back from the station, he saw a girl apparently about seventeen years of age and a white man apparently about twenty-five years of age, and both seemed slightly excited. The girl was nervous, and was twisting her hands, and he thought the man had been drinking. They were standing near the street door of the factory. He went on down to Five Points, he said, and later went back by the Western Union office on Forsyth street, and at about twenty minutes to 6 o'clock he passed the man and the girl again. The girl was standing right by the door of the pencil factory. He saw the same girl Sunday morning at Bloomfield's undertaking establishment. There was no doubt in his mind that it was the same girl, despite the disfigured and swollen features of the corpse. He couldn't be sure about the man. A man pointed out to him by an officer as "Mr. Frank" had the same "outline" as the man he saw on Forsyth street. This man was pointed out to him on Sunday morning. About 8:20 o'clock he went to the factory where the detectives were making their investigation. We went there with a policeman, to whom he had told the story of the excited couple he had seen. He was on a Fair street car reading a newspaper extra, and got off the car and talked to an officer. He could not describe the complexion of the man whom he saw with the girl. He says he is five feet and eleven inches in height, he said, and he thought the man with the girl would come about to his shoulder. He could not identify the clothing which had been worn by Mary Phagan, on the table. As well as he remembered, the girl had on a light cloak. Its did not notice whether she wore a hat or not. He thought her hair was dark. He was in Atlanta on personal business, he said.

The inquest adjourned at the conclusion of Mr. Spier's testimony, until 2:15 o'clock.

REWARD OF $1,000 IS APPROPRIATED BY CITY

Money Will Be Paid for Information Leading to Arrest of Girl's Murderer

At a special session called at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, the city council of Atlanta voted for the appropriation of $1,000 as a reward for information leading to the arrest of the party or parties guilty of the brutal murder of little Mary Phagan, in the building of the National Pencil company's factory on Forsyth street, last Saturday afternoon or night.

Immediately afterward the aldermanic board met and concurred in the appropriation.

The only objection made to the money as a reward came from Councilman A. D. Thomson, who declared it would be best to use the money at once for hiring competent detectives to work on the case. He pointed out that rewards often resulted in stool pigeons swearing away the life of an innocent party. "If the detectives now working on the case are not competent," said Councilman Thomson, "then let us use this money in securing men who can clear up the mystery."

It is expected that Mayor Woodward will approve the action of both bodies during the day, so that the money will be obtainable at once.

USE OF DICTAPHONE ON FRANK AND NEGRO IS DENIED BY POLICE

does not appear to be in the best of health, is taking his imprisonment very calmly.

When he was told by The Journal of the result of the examination of the time clock record of his factory, he showed great surprise.

"I don't remember ever having heard of Lee's failing to punch the clock at regular intervals," he said.

"While I do not examine the record each day, if the negro had failed in his duty, it would have been reported to me immediately. Lee has been unusually faithful about his duties."

Numbers of Frank's friends visited him at the police headquarters during Tuesday afternoon and evening, and it was not until shortly after midnight that they left. He, with a guard by his side, went to sleep on a cot in the office of the detectives and slept soundly for several hours.

L. M. Gantt, whose attorneys, Gober & Jackson, took him before Judge George L. Bell, of the superior court, on a writ of habeas corpus Tuesday afternoon, has been transferred at the judge's order to the Tower.

Mary Phagan at Home Last Friday, Says Mother

Mrs. W. J. Coleman, mother of Mary Phagan, says that the girl was at home during Friday and Friday night, and could not possibly have been the one seen at the Terminal station Friday morning by H. P. Sibley, gateman, and T. R. Mahone, special officer.

Just as a young man with a ticket for Washington reached one of the gates to the tracks at the Terminal station, he was stopped Friday morning by a pretty girl, who pleaded with him not to leave her. The girl finally reached such a state of hysteria that the man turned away from the gate, and they left the station together.

Both the gateman and the special officer identified Mary Phagan at this girl. But Mrs. Coleman says that their identification is a complete mistake. Mary Phagan, she insists, was at home during the day and the night on Friday, and could not possibly have been at the Terminal station.

DETECTIVES VISIT FACTORY.

City Detectives Black and Rosser and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, visited the pencil factory Wednesday afternoon following the morning session of the coroner's inquest. They stated in response to questions that they wanted to question some one in the factory, but what the line of their inquiry was could not be learned.

Gantt was Tuesday afternoon transferred from police barracks to the jail on an order issued by Judge Bell. Justice Powers, who issued the warrant for Gantt's arrest, had not been notified of the hearing at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, but it was stated at the office of Judge George Gober, attorney for Gantt, that the hearing will be held at 3 o'clock.

SAYS HE PUNCHED TIME CLOCK ON WRONG NUMBER

Harry Denham's Story Indicates Miss Annie Howell Wasn't in Factory

The time clock at the National Pencil company's factory, where Mary Phagan was murdered, shows that employe No. 141 registered off at 3:07 p. m. last Saturday.

This is the number of Miss Annie Howell, of 664 East Fair street, and at first the detectives thought she might be able to throw some light on the mystery.

It developed later, however, that this was not have been a mistake. Harry Denham, one of the men employed in the factory, claims that he punched her by mistake, and then punched his own number, which is 143, as a correction.

The clock shows that No. 143 was punched at 3:09 p. m. on Saturday.

CAUSE OF THE GRIPPE

How To Escape Its Dangerous After Effects

With so much grippe prevalent this winter a few words of advice regarding its cause and treatment will not be out of place.

Grippe is an infectious disease easily taken when the system is in a tired or run-down condition.

The best means of prevention are to keep the blood in good healthy condition, and if the system gets into a weak, run-down condition, take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

A lady from Long Branch, N. J., says: "Grippe left me in a nervous, weakened, run-down condition. After taking three bottles of Vinol I am better and stronger than I have been for years, and I cheerfully recommend Vinol to all who have suffered from the grippe and need strength." (Name furnished on request.)

We have never sold in our store such a valuable strength creator and health restorer for the convalescent, the weak and run-down as Vinol, and your money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it. Elkin Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(Advt.)

U. S. WANTS TEACHERS OF AGRICULTURE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The United States bureau of education today issued an appeal for agricultural teachers in high schools. The bureau incidentally pointed out that while the salaries of the majority of male teachers in the high schools average only $700 the teachers of agriculture were receiving $1,200.

"Lack of teachers" is the explanation offered by the bureau for the cause for the higher remuneration for those who teach agriculture.

"Not only is it found that the average age of instructors in agriculture is higher than of other teachers," says the bureau, "but that teachers who are able to give such instruction in addition to regular work command better salaries than they otherwise would and are more likely to be advanced to principalships than if they had not specialized in agriculture."

"POLICE OF THE SEAS" IS BUSY LITTLE CRAFT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The little motor boat Tarragon, a federal "policeman of the seas," which has been in commission only nine and a half months, already has reported 495 violations of the motorboat and other navigation laws.

The commissioning of the vessel was the result of continued complaints of "hooligan" and illegal handling of oysters in the oyster fleet of Chesapeake bay, which conditions are said by the bureau of navigation to have been greatly improved as a result of the patrol.

The Tarragon, which now is in North Carolina waters, reports to the department of commerce that the general lack of life-saving equipment on motorboats is seldom if ever found, but gradually corrected. As there are about 200,000 motorboats in the United States the bureau of navigation estimates that approximately 400,000 persons thus are being safeguarded.

REAL RACING TO BE GIVEN AT HORSE SHOW

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Real racing with some of the best mounts in the arms entered was the schedule today for the army horse show at Fort Myer, Va. Interest centered in the mile cross country flat race, for enlisted men and officers, and the cross country contest for officers. There also were to be chargers tests and a competitive test for the best work of the horses. The mile flat race was to have been run yesterday but was postponed on account of a muddy turf. Following a rainy night and two days of downpour today were greeted by ideal weather. A brilliant attendance from diplomatic, official and congressional circles was in evidence.

CANARY BIRDS SAVE WOMN FROM DEATH

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Saved from death by two canary birds, the lives of which were sacrificed, Mrs. William P. Martin, eighty-three years old, the wife of a retired business man of Washington today in a local hospital from the effects of gas poisoning. Fumes which escaped from a natural gas heater in her home last night nearly proved fatal.

The aged woman's husband entered the room in which apparently she was resting in a chair and noticing that his wife's pet canaries were showing no signs of life, examined the cage. Both were dead.

Turning to his wife, he addressed a remark to her and receiving no response, made a hasty examination. It was then he discovered the presence of the escaping gas. Shutting off the flow, Mr. Martin hastily summoned a physician, who ordered the unconscious woman removed to a hospital.

COMMISSION FORM URGED FOR DALTON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

K. Moore as chairman, to draft a new charter, report its findings back to the central committee and then get the charter in shape to be introduced in the local general assembly.

The committee favored the commission form as in force at Cartersville, with a few amendments and changes, providing for a commission of three, one of whom shall be mayor, to manage Dalton's affairs. The charter bill changing Dalton's governmental plan, will be submitted to a vote of the people before becoming of force.

People went to her aid when she screamed. She sustained serious burns in the side, and it was not thought that she would survive; but today she is better and thought to be recovering.

FROGS' LEGS MAY BECOME AN EVERYDAY DISH

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Frogs' legs may become as ordinary a dish as bacon and eggs if the United States bureau of fisheries succeeds in the propagating scheme with which it has just started to experiment. At the bureau's hatchery at Edenton, near the western end of Albemarle Sound, N. C., efforts are being made this spring for the first time to discover how frogs may be propagated artificially.

There is much territory in North Carolina, Virginia, and Maryland, as well as in some other states, whereby the opinion of fish experts frogs could thrive, and become so plentiful in the course of a few years that they would become articles of common diet.

RICHARD CRANE'S WIDOW WEDS JUNKIN IN PARIS

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, April 30.—Mrs. Emeline Hutchinson-Crane, of Chicago, wife of the late Richard T. Crane, philanthropist and iron master, and Francis T. A. Junkin, general counsel for the Santa Fe railroad, were married here today.

The wedding was the consummation of a romance dating back twenty-five years, when Mrs. Crane, who was Miss Emiline Hutchinson, became estranged.

After Mr. Crane's death a year ago, Mr. Junkin and Mrs. Crane met again, and their engagement was announced a few months ago.

After the shooting Joseph surrendered to the sheriff. He was released on a nominal bond after the coroner's inquest.

DEMOCRATS KEEP TARIFF STEAM ROLLER AT WORK

Night Sessions Hasten Work in House and Bill Will Soon Be in Senate

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—When consideration of the Underwood bill was resumed at the opening of the house today, Republican Leader Mann and his lieutenants, particularly Representatives Payne, of New York; Moore, of Pennsylvania; Gardner, of Massachusetts, and Green, of Iowa, resumed the "heckling" of the Democrats who framed the measure.

The Republicans have given every indication of fighting the schedules all along the line, including, however, the useless delays that would be occasioned by demanding record votes.

The Democratic purpose to have night sessions continuously until the bill is voted upon, and sped upon its way to the greater battle in the senate.

Democratic steering committee, guiding the measure through the house, is putting in direct charge, as each schedule of the bill is taken up, the member of the committee who had charge of that schedule during the committee deliberations.

Representative Mann, as leader of the opposition, and former Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee, have moved down to the front of the house on the Republican side.

Consideration of the earthenware and glassware schedule was resumed at the outset of today's session.

As the session proceeded amendments began pouring in again from the minority side, but Mr. Underwood, with his large majority well in hand, defeated them one after another.

ANGORA GOATS.

The weary debate was relieved by a row between Representative Hamilton, Republican, and Representative Hardy, of Texas, Democrat, over Angora goats and their duty, that set the house into roars of laughter.

Standing on each side of the main aisle, the two members shouted to one another, shook fists and forefingers, argued in a two-man chorus, but their words were drowned in the uproar. The bill, however, was not affected.

An attempt to amend the duties on glass, during which Representatives Murdock declared Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, "out-Payned," the representative of New York, as a protectionist, was lost after a sharp skirmish.

A lively fight was vainly waged by the Republicans against the increase of duty on ferromanganese in the metal schedule, as being in the interest of the United States Steel corporation.

"Its sole purpose," said Representative Mann, "is to aid and comfort the monopoly in competition with the independents."

Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, in charge of the schedule, emphatically denied that contention.

WOMEN STRIKERS SCRATCH OFFICERS ON WAY TO JAIL

Biting, Scratching and Kicking Women Are Hauled to Prison for Rioting

(By Associated Press.)

AUBURN, N. Y., April 30.—Militiamen called out last night did not prevent rioting at the International Harvester company twine mills this morning. There were several pitched battles between police, soldiers, deputies and strikers.

Six strikers were arrested, three of them women. The latter fought with all the weapons of their sex and were taken to police headquarters, biting, scratching and kicking.

Among the men arrested was the strike leader, Gaetano Termini. He had made a socialist speech denouncing the police, the militia and the capitalists.

Sheriff Drake and Deputy Sheriff Teeter were attacked by fifty women as they were escorting girl employes who wanted to go to work and after a stone throwing battle they arrested the women who led the attack.

The break in the ranks of the strikers grew this morning and by nine o'clock 150 had entered the mills.

BANK CASHED CHECK; NOW SEEKS DEPOSITOR

John Young Alleged to Have Secured $100 at Gainesville

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 30.—The First National bank of Gainesville, Ga., is said to have been fleeced out of the sum of $100 by a man on Monday, representing himself as John Young, of Jacksonville, Fla. He walked into the bank with a country friend, it is alleged, and introduced himself as Young and asked to be allowed to deposit the sum of $600 to his credit, presenting his pass book from the bank of his home town in Florida, showing this amount to his credit there.

The president of the First National bank gave him credit for the $600 and issued him a pass book on the bank for the amount and Young very promptly had a conference with the president, asking to be permitted to draw a check as $25 of the money instantly. It is alleged, which request was granted, but instead of drawing for $25, he made his check for $100 and induced the officers of the bank to cash it so it is said.

The cashier of the bank was already suspicious of the man Young, it is said, and immediately wired the Florida bank asking if the check as deposited was good, and a very prompt reply in the negative was received together with a request to take up the pass book and have Young arrested for false pretense charges for a similar offense, so it is alleged.

The police and county authorities were immediately notified quietly by the officials of the First National bank, and every effort was made to locate Young. He had made his escape, though.

"ARMS FOREVER," CRIES GERMAN CROWN PRINCE

Frederick William Is No Believer in Universal Peace as Long as Riches Last

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, April 30.—Crown Prince Frederick William in writing the preface to a book on "Germany in Arms," published today of which he is reputed to be the author exhibits himself, the future German emperor, as an unbeliever in the possibility of ever abolishing war.

He declares that diplomacy may delay and occasionally avert conflicts, but "the day will remain the final and decisive factor until the world's end."

In another passage he says:

"Only with the support of our good sword can we maintain that place in the sun which is due to us but which is not willingly accorded to us."

The author points out Germany's unfortunate geographical position and warns his countrymen that the German army and navy must be kept continuously at the highest point of efficiency. He says that increasing commercialism and the desire for riches threaten to destroy the old ideals, "since for the undisturbed earning of money one needs peace, and any price. History shows that the nations in which commercial interests have decided their policy have ended ingloriously."

He appeals to all Germans to be ready to sacrifice their blood and their possessions and continues:

"Then the world may be full of devils arrayed in arms against us, but we shall conquer."

COLUMBUS AUTOISTS BARELY ESCAPE DEATH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 30.—John F. Flournoy, prominent citizen of Columbus, with a party of three visiting gentlemen, had a close call from instant death, late yesterday, when a freight train of cars was backed almost upon the automobile in which they were riding at a crossing of the Central east of the city, the only thing saving the gentlemen being the quick action of Mr. Flournoy in running his car out between two wide openings of the men attempted to jump, but were prevented owing to the close quarters in which they found themselves.

The incident occurred at a point where it is proposed to construct a $200,000 viaduct over the tracks of the Central, and the men renewed the fight to get this improvement.

$15,000 IS EXPENSIVE WINDOW CLEANING

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Taking the stand that $15,000 is rather a large sum for having the windows cleaned, particularly when it was not "responsible," the Jacob Doll & Sons, Pittsburg storekeepers, have appealed to the supreme court to revise the judgment awarded to Giovanni Tommaso Ribetti against them.

The latter was walking along the street in front of the store one day in 1910, when a window cleaner, working in the second floor, fell from his perch and landed upon the pedestrian. The $15,000 judgment resulted. The storekeepers contend that the "independent contractor" who employed the window cleaner was responsible, if any one.

SUFFRAGETTES ROUNDED UP BY ENGLISH POLICE

Mrs. Drummond and Associates Are Re-arrested When Headquarters Are Raided

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 30.—The British home office today inaugurated its active campaign to put an end to suffragette militancy. Headquarters of the women's social and political union, where many outrages were said to have been planned, was occupied by the police and all the active leaders taken into custody.

Even "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond and Miss Annie Kenney, who were out on bail, were arrested on a fresh charge of conspiring with the members of the Pankhurst family to commit malicious damage.

Over 100 policemen and detectives from Scotland Yards were engaged in the capture of the militant offices. They had scarcely taken possession of the place when "General" Drummond, apparently ignorant of what had happened, arrived and was admitted, not realizing that she had voluntarily entered the lion's den until she found herself under arrest.

Miss Barbara Kerr, the secretary of the Woman's Social and Political union; Misses Lane, Lennox and Barrett and Mrs. Saunders, the officials of the society who were in charge of the offices at the time of the raid, were arrested and a large quantity of documents was seized.

Several typists and clerks were ordered to leave the premises, which were then closed, and policemen left on guard.

The women arrested were charged with conspiracy or with violations of the malicious damages act.

CONSPIRACY?

Archibald Bodkin, counsel for the treasury, prosecuted on behalf of the government. He said the proceedings involved a charge of conspiracy and had been taken to bring to an end "a state of affairs which has become dangerous to the civilized portion of the community in the British Isles."

Mr. Bodkin intimated that still more serious charges might be brought against the prisoners when the police had completed their investigations into the "nefarious practices" of the organization.

He warned aiders and abettors of the society as well as its contributors, among whom are many American women.

"I desire to give fair public warning," he said, "that if any person makes a speech in encouragement of this cause, proceedings will be taken against the speaker. If those who have money cannot find a better use for it than giving it to this organization for the commission of crime they will be prosecuted."

There will be no issue of the official newspapers of the militant suffragettes tomorrow because the police arresting the two women editors and carried off all the type set up for tomorrow's number.

The women say the raid had been expected and they had removed most of their valuable belongings to two empty houses they had in reserve in case of emergency.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont visited the suffragette centers today. She reached the headquarters of the Woman's Social and Political union too late to be included among those arrested.

Mrs. Belmont has joined the National Suffrage Movement of London.

Granted Insurance After Lung Trouble
As many cases of Lung Troubles start with a cold or a cough, the best advice that can be given is to get rid of the cold or cough as quickly as possible. Otherwise more serious troubles are likely to follow. If at this time you are now taking do not bring relief, try Eckman's Alterative, the remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, which has stood the test of time. Investigate this case:
237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Dear Sirs:—About a year and a half ago my health rapidly failed until at the end of two months my weight had fallen to 129 pounds. I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak. About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied, I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alterative. I grew stronger almost from the time I commenced taking it. Immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alterative."
(Affidavit) W. E. GEE.
(Above statement voluntarily made on request.)
Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' use to be a most effectious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in rebuilding the system after all contagious, narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all druggists. Drug stores and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

MUCH HEARSAY EVIDENCE ADMITTED BY M'CLELLAND

He Gives the Probe Committee Names of Witnesses, However, to Prove Charges

To the special committee of council which Tuesday afternoon commenced the investigation of his charges against Aldermen Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling, Alderman McClelland admitted that much of his evidence against them is hearsay.

Alderman McClelland was the first witness put on the stand. On account of his illness, the committee decided to let him go over the whole ground of his charges, instead of taking up each at a seperate hearing.

THE MADDOX CHARGE.

First he took up his charge against Alderman Maddox. This charge is that Alderman Maddox has repeatedly and notoriously and illegally performed subcontracts on city work. Alderman Maddox's formal answer in writing was already filed with the committee, in which he admitted performing a subcontract for Chester A. Dady on the Peachtree creek and the Entrenchment creek sewage disposal plants, but claimed that City Attorney Mayson ruled this to be legal and denied that he ever performed any others.

Asked if he had evidence of any other subcontracts performed by Alderman Maddox, Alderman McClelland said he had none except hearsay. He took a ran, however, at Alderman Maddox for using his influence in council to get permits for closing the streets for new buildings where he had the excavating contracts, and a rap at him for having the dirt ordinance virtually repealed in order to save paying fines in recorder's court for spilling dirt on the streets.

THE RAGSDALE CHARGE.

Next Alderman McClelland took up his charge against Alderman Ragsdale. This charge is that Alderman Ragsdale, who is a dealer in mules and horses, formed a dummy concern known as J. E. Lawhon & Co., for the purpose of selling mules and horses to the city.

Asked if he had any evidence to support this charge, Alderman McClelland said he had none, except hearsay. Asked if he could give the committee the names of any persons who might corroborate the charge, or suggest any way to get evidence, he gave the names of some men in the mule and horse trade, and suggested that the committee subpoena Bradstreet and Dun, the mercantile agencies, to produce their books, which, he said, would show Alderman Ragsdale's connection with J. E. Lawhon & Co. Also, he cited several vouchers by city departments made payable to Lawhon an dto Ragsdale.

THE SPRATLING CHARGE.

Third, Alderman McClelland took up his charge against Alderman Spratling. This charge is that Alderman Spratling, in the fall of 1910, on the expectation of being made chairman of the 1911 police committee of council by Mayor Winn, borrowed large sums of money from brewers and beer agents on promise of returning the favor when their applications for permits came before the police committee, and that Mayor Winn, upon learning these facts, left Alderman Spratling off the police committee entirely.

Asked if he had evidence to support this charge, Alderman McClelland said Alderman Spratling, during the charter fight of 1911, came to him and besought him to intercede with Charles T. Hopkins to prevent Mr. Hopkins from exposing the facts, which persuasion had the desired effect.

Asked if he had evidence to show that Alderman Spratling borrowed the money after he had been nominated alderman, Alderman McClelland said he had none except hearsay. Asked if he could give the names of persons who might throw additional light on the matter, he suggested the officers of the Fourth National bank, ex-Mayor Winn, Councilman W. G. Humphries, Ira Steiner, of the Atlanta Brewing and Ice company; James F. Lynch, a beer wholesaler, and Poole & McCullough, beer wholesalers.

MCLELLAND EXCUSED.

When Alderman McClelland finished, he was excused on account of his illness and immediately left the city hall. His attorney, Charles T. Hopkins, tarried a while, but asked no questions of any witnesses. He explained that he and Mr. McClelland were not there as prosecutors.

Chester A. Dady next took the stand. He swore that he gave Alderman Maddox the contract for excavating on the Peachtree creek and the Entrenchment creek plants. He said Maddox submitted the lowest bid, that the contract was in writing, and that the city paid him (Dady) and he paid Maddox.

WINN TESTIFIES.

Ex-Mayor Winn followed Dady. He swore that early in 1911 he went to the Peachtree creek plant on a tour of inspection, found Maddox there at work, asked Maddox what he was doing, and Maddox told him. Thereupon he told Maddox he considered the subcontract both improper and illegal, to which Maddox replied that the city attorney had ruled it to be legal. A few days later he (Winn) called for a written ruling, and the city attorney supported Maddox. He bowed to the ruling and took no further steps in the matter.

As to Alderman Spratling, Mr. Winn swore that shortly after the general municipal election, in December, 1910, he heard that Spratling had borrowed money from beer men. He had made up his mind to make Spratling chairman of the police committee. On hearing of the loans, he ran down one in particular (by James F. Lynch) and Lynch admitted the facts. Thereupon he summoned Spratling to his law office and told him he could not make him a member of the police committee.

Luther Z. Rosser, attorney for Alderman Spratling, on cross-examination, tried to make Mr. Winn say he had not "promised" Spratling the chairmanship, prior to the general election. Mr. Winn replied that he didn't "promise" any chairmanships or any committee appointments, but that numbers of friends of Spratling came to him after the primary, which was in October, and urged him to make Spratling chairman of the police committee.

OTHER WITNESSES.

Captain R. M. Clayton, the chief of construction, testified as to the Maddox sub-contract, saying the one with Dady was the only one Maddox ever performed, so far as he knew.

Nym Hurt, superintendent of streets, testified as to vouchers payable to Alderman Ragsdale. He said they covered feeding of wormout city stock in the Ragsdale stable, while Ragsdale was keeping them to sell for the city. He said J. E. Lawhon gave him credit for the wormout stock on the price of new stock, which made it appear that Ragsdale negotiated a swap between the city and Lawhon. Mr. Hurt said, though, that he got more than he expected for the wormout stock.

Fire Chief Cummings testified as to vouchers by his department payable to Ragsdale. He said he went to St. Louis to buy fire horses, found Ragsdale's son there, and shipped the fire horses to Atlanta in a car with Ragsdale's shipment to save freight. He said Ragsdale had sold some wormout horses for him and got more than he expected, and more than he (Cummings) could have got.

The committee will meet again at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Meanwhile, all the witnesses suggested by Alderman McClelland will be served with subpenas.

Other Tragedies Near Phagan Murder Scene

The atrocious murder of fourteen-year-old Mary Phagan is not the first tragedy that has been enacted within the dark walls of the old Venable building, now occupied by the National Pencil company's factory.

Old citizens of Atlanta recall incidents of horror that occurred there over twenty years ago when a livery stable moved in from diagonally across the street.

One night fire broke out on the second floor at about the center point of the building and was supposed to have been caused by a gas explosion. A gentleman by the name of Pettigrew, who was housing a string of fine horses there was ill in the front room, now used as the office of the company. He was attended only by a negro body servant who attempted to lift the helpless form from the cot on which it lay. He was unequal to the task and the flames creeping up on them forced the man to the stone ledge at the front from which point of safety he was rescued.

The sick man, lying there unable to move, was horribly burned and soon died in fearful agony but not until he was finally taken from the building.

His rescuers were Tom White and Charles McAllister. The latter was so badly scorched that he, too, died from the effects. Approximately $2,000 in cash belonging to Pettigrew were stolen, suspicion pointing to the men who carried him from the room, but neither was convicted.

Others in the city who have recollections of the vicinity of the building declare that at least half a dozen fatal shooting scrapes have taken place within fifty yards of the place.

GOVERNOR BROWN URGED TO FREE DR. M'NAUGHTON

Judge Frank Saffold Enters Plea for Pardon in Famous S. Georgia Case

Judge Frank Saffold, of Swainsboro, Ga., attorney for W. J. McNaughton, Wednesday laid before Governor Brown a plea for the pardon of his client.

McNaughton was tried, convicted and sentenced to hang for the murder of Fred Flanders. Four times his sentence was respited pending the trial of Mrs. Flanders, who was jointly indicted with him for the murder of her husband. His present respite, which is the fourth, will expire on May 9. Mrs. Flanders' trial has been set forward until July.

Judge Saffold was in conference with the governor upwards of an hour.

After the conference Governor Brown said he would take the case under advisement.

Judge Saffold stated that he was not urging another respite, but a straight-out pardon. His plead is based on the ground that if Mrs. Flanders is not brought to trial, which he predicts she never will be, then McNaughton, since he was jointly indicted with her, should not pay the penalty for Flanders' death.

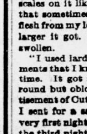
ANKLE BEGAN TO GET SCALES ON IT

Sting Looked Like Pimple, Itching and Tormenting. Ankle and Instep Swollen. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 6 Weeks Well.

1427 Story Ave., Louisville, Ky.—"Three summers ago in the middle of the night I was awakened with what I believed to be a sting of some kind on my left ankle. It was very severe. I scratched it till I felt it all over my body. Next day it looked like a pimple. Then it bothered me every night and grew bigger. In six months it had grown to the size of a quarter and it kept on itching and tormenting me till it got as big as a dollar. Then it began to get scales on it like a fish. It itched so badly that sometimes I thought I could tear the flesh from my leg. The more I scratched the larger it got. My ankle and instep were swollen.



"I used lard, tallow and all sorts of liniments that I knew of, but it got worse all the time. It got as large as two dollars, not round but oblong. Then I saw the advertisements of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I sent for a sample and used them. The very first night I was able to sleep some and the third night I was able to sleep all night without any itching or burning whatsoever. Then I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It got better all the time and in six weeks it was dry and well." (Signed) Geo. L. Kalkhoff, Oct. 10, 1912.

Peace in Europe is still balking.

The good old summer time will soon be no idle hope.

Too Great for Narrowness.

The one great purpose of the Southern Sociological Congress is the betterment of human conditions and, to that end, it has sought the support of all good citizens and all worthy agencies, irrespective of sect or creed. It has recognized the far-reaching value of the church in promoting social welfare and, so, in the Atlanta convention it has made a special effort to enlist the organized aid of religious forces in its generous campaign for the upbuilding of the South's highest interests.

It never has been and, thanks to the liberal note that was sounded in the Atlanta meeting, it never will be the desire of the Sociological Congress to stray for a moment into any paths of denominational narrowness. Indeed, the usefulness and the very life of this organization depend upon its freedom from sectarian bias or dispute. It is not the name or the form but the inner spirit that makes any institution, whether a church or a secular society, of service to mankind and whoever is earnestly striving for humanity's good brings strength and honor to this cause.

It is very gratifying to note that the Southern Sociological Congress adheres to this vital principle of the work it is seeking to do, and that it has registered an unmistakable protest marked with hearty co-operation among all churches, all creeds and all institutions which are devoted to social progress. That will continue to be the case; and for that reason the efficiency and fruitfulness of this organization are assured. The Sociological Congress is now firmly established. It has left its impress upon Atlanta and upon all the South. Its work is under way and its constructive influence will become more and more manifest.

The Atlanta team is mighty close to the top, if not on top.

The amateur detective just now is in our midst by a big majority.

We still hear echoes of grand opera in the phonograph—and worse than echoes, some of them.

Agricultural Instruction.

The practical and humanistic trend of our school systems is strikingly revealed in the progress of agricultural instruction.

Quoting from a bulletin issued by the United States Bureau of Education, the Louisville Courier-Journal declares that in the school year of 1906-07 fewer than half a dozen city or village high schools offered more than a one-year course in agriculture and that these were supported entirely by local funds. But in 1909-10, we are told, "more than thirty locally-supported high schools were giving two or more years in agricultural work, while some fifty others maintained agricultural departments through State aid." During the last scholastic year more than one hundred and seventy-five public schools were maintaining thoroughly organized agricultural courses; and it appears furthermore that in twenty or more States elementary schools offer instruction in at least the rudiments of agriculture.

Georgia's progress in this constructive field is noteworthy. The quickening influence of the State College of Agriculture and of the various district ag*ricultural schools* has made itself felt for good in almost every sphere of our educational endeavor.

Not only the rural schools but a number of town and city schools have introduced courses in gardening and related studies of the soil. It is highly appropriate and essential that in a State whose interests are so largely agricultural as Georgia's should stress this phase of common school education. Whether a child live in the country or in the city, a knowledge of the soil will be enriching to his mental growth and his material opportunities.

Georgia's Country Schools.

It is a significant and cheering fact that the annual convention of the county school officials of Georgia, which is now in progress in Atlanta, is the most largely attended meeting of its kind that has yet been held. From practically every county in the State, school superintendents and school trustees have assembled to counsel together over their common interests and to advance the cause in which they are co-workers for the public good.

So large and representative a number of delegates attests the deep interest which our common school system, and particularly the rural schools, have inspired. There can be do doubt that Georgia is now in the midst of a great awakening to the problems and the responsibilities of the country school. This must be ascribed, in large measure, to the new educational law which the General Assembly enacted a few seasons ago and under which the county schools are being reorganized on a more efficient basis. The more thoroughgoing system which is now being applied serves to show, as never before, both the needs and the opportunities of the rural schools. It is bringing about a more fruitful administration of school affairs and is opening new paths of progress and development.

The upbuilding of our country schools is a task that vitally concerns the economic as well as the civic and social interests of Georgia. The men and women who are engaged in this work merit the public's continuous and cordial support. Their present convention, it is hoped, will be inspiriting and productive.

On the heel of this meeting will come that of the Georgia Educational Association, in which the rank and file of teachers as well as officials will participate. Indeed, the two conventions are so closely related in sympathy and purpose that they are virtually one. They will be attended not only by educators, professionally speaking, but also by many good citizens who are interested in educational endeavor. It is worth noting, in this connection, that one of the principal addresses of the week will be delivered by Judge Frank Park, of Albany. The United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. P. P. Claxton, of Washington, will be among the distinguished visitors at the convention.

What the Opera Management Thinks of Atlanta.

Nowhere has the remarkable success of Atlanta's latest opera week left a deeper impress than among the officials of the Metropolitan company. Mr. Otto Kahn, chairman of the board of directors, and Mr. Gatti-Casazza, general manager, both declare that this city's support of grand opera has been truly marvelous and that now, more than ever, they are satisfied that it has passed beyond the experimental stage.

Every music lover appreciates the artistic triumph of the opera season recently ended. The general public, whether music-loving or not, recognizes the great practical achievement that has been scored. But the Metropolitan management, the men who know through long and intimate experience the hazards and difficulties of opera production, realize more keenly perhaps than any one else the full significance of what has been accomplished in Atlanta.

They frankly admit that they do not believe it possible for a city of two hundred thousand people to do what Atlanta has done for four seasons past. They entered upon their Southern engagement with considerable doubt, if not misgiving; at least they considered it an experiment. They now declare that from every standpoint it has been the most gratifying of all the enterprises they have undertaken.

The significant fact is that Metropolitan grand opera is now permanently assured for Atlanta each season. There is no longer a shadow of doubt as to the financial success of the Atlanta performance.

This city takes its place beside New York as one of the only two cities in all the nation where Metropolitan opera is presented.

THE MODERN WOMAN

XXXVI—The Colored Woman's Progress.
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

(EDITOR'S NOTE.—This article was added to the original series of thirty-five letters on the Modern Woman after the receipt of many requests.)

The history of womanhood in America would be incomplete without note being taken of the heroic struggle of the colored women born in this country who, from the time of their liberation from slavery, have been exerting every effort to overcome in their race the effects of a bondage extending over unnumbered centuries. The Afro-American woman demonstrates more than do most others the tender, maternal instinct of the primeval woman who would labor and suffer and bear strong sons whose vigor might add to the greatness of the world. Every southern born man or woman whose childish sleep was watched over by the crooning tenderness of the old colored mammy will affirm the faithful constancy of the women of this darker race.

• • •

The development of this great nation necessitated the freedom of the one-time slave. Unequipped with the training and education needed for the new duties and responsibilities freedom brought to them, the colored woman from the beginning keenly felt the responsibility of preparing her family for the new life dawning upon them. No greater task ever came to the women of any nation and the loyalty with which they are fulfilling it must appeal to any one who will consider for a moment some of their achievements in the face of great obstacles. The colored woman recognizes the value of education far more than the colored man, as is evidenced by the much larger number of colored women than men now found in the higher schools. It was only the exceptional colored woman, a generation or two ago, who, by the aid of some kindly disposed friends, and usually by untold sacrifice and exertion upon her own part, was able to secure an education which demonstrated her fitness for something more than the menial drudgery which had been considered the lot of the women of her race. Having achieved an advantage for herself, she did not selfishly enjoy it but, in almost every instance, devoted her added advantage to help others of her race.

• • •

Like the white woman, the progressive colored woman realized the value of organization. When he Federation of Women's clubs was organized several of the clubs composed of educated colored women were credulous enough to believe that the motto "Unity in Diversity" was broad enough to include the enlightened women of their race who were working toward the general *uplift of humanity. The national body of the General Fed*eration to admit Mrs. Ruffin as a delegate from the New Era club, of Boston, answered this assumption. Stung by this rebuff, the colored women realized that for the present they must receive aid from organizations composed entirely of their own race.

• • •

The National Association of Colored Women in the United States now fills a greater place in the development of the colored women of the country than does the General Federation for the white women. Its bonds are closer and more sympathetic because of the discouragements its members so frequently receive. This organization which has grown from a comparatively small body, organized in Washington in 1896, now represents over 150,000 colored women in its membership. It has state federations in most of the states, and is strongest in the south. The association recognizes the fact that whether cultured or not, the colored woman receives practically the same treatment from the white public. The women who have culture, therefore, really help themselves in helping those who have not, and the spirit of the association is one of general helpfulness, which is expressed in its motto, "Lifting as we climb."

• • •

The association includes twenty different departments of work, each of which is under the direction of a woman who is a specialist in that subject. Social science, literature, domestic science, art, woman suffrage, rescue work, juvenile court, forestry, children and health are the things most emphasized. Domestic science receives especial attention because the progressive colored woman recognizes that in the effort to secure higher education the colored girls of the past generation, like the white, have developed a tendency to despise the work of home making. The pendulum is swinging backward now and the educated colored girl knows that there is no work more worthy of respect than that which enables her to administer to the needs of a home. Special classes in domestic science are being established by the colored women's clubs in every city, which will give instruction in every form of household work so that the woman who has had little opportunity may learn to do as much for the comfort and health of her family as the one who has had better education.

• • •

The work of the Colored Parents and Teachers' associations is an important branch of the social work taken up by the clubs in the association and the more fortunate colored woman is eagerly working to help her less favored sister through the medium of the school which is attended by the children of both. Colored women are interested in securing kindergartens for their children and in securing for them a proper amount of playground space. The matter of children's play has also received their attention and at the last biennial convention a detailed discussion of the play games of childhood was led by Mrs. G. M. Cook, of Howard university. The value of the dance as a physical exercise is also being advocated by Mrs. Butler Wilson, of Boston, who has for several years been working to secure interest in the folk dances of different nations as a substitute for the forms of dancing which have been condemned by the clergy.

MR. BRYAN AND THE WINE DRINKERS

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1912, by Frank Crane.)

It's a queer world, and one of the queerest spectacles in it is that of a group of folks who, for one reason or another, bluff, bully and browbeat the timid majority.

The most intolerant of these self-constituted tyrants are those who are known as social leaders, the upper ten, the setters of fashion, those whose opinions, accent and manners are "the thing."

One of the statutes on the books of these "correct" people is that in order to be real uppity one must serve wine at any dinner where men and women "of the world" are invited. Beer, whisky or cocktails will not do; it must be wine.

The reason is that this is the custom in Europe. Everybody there drinks wine—even the office boy must have a wine allowance in addition to his wages. The usual booze is red ink called vin ordinaire, a watery, red stomach-pickle supposed to be extracted from the grape.

When there is a wedding, or a banquet, or any sort of high-jinks, there must be champagne, which is the best morning-after headache maker yet discovered.

This is not a temperance oration. I am in favor of letting any one consume wine, or prussic acid, if he is so disposed, and have no sympathy with the temperance wild man who insists that because he is a water drinker therefore there should be no more cakes and ale.

But the majority of the better (I mean the more efficient and intelligent) class of American people do not regularly drink alcoholic liquors. The great body of professional men, capable business men, and almost the entire number of women in these United do not have a wine bottle on the dinner table as a usual thing. The most of the crowd that cluster about saloon bars are second class—and on down. The typical American drinks water, and perhaps takes something stronger only occasionally.

Consequently it is with feelings of distinct satisfaction that we read that Secretary of State Bryan, at a recent dinner he gave in honor of Ambassador James Bryce, of England, had no wines served, and states that he was a teetotaler, his parents were before him, that he proposed to omit intoxicants from all entertainments given by him, and that he was sure all foreigners of common sense would respect his right to do as he pleased at his own board.

Our hats are off to Mr. Bryan. In this matter he is playing the man. Without making an offensive display of his virtue he is acting at Washington just as he has been used to acting among his neighbors at Lincoln, Neb., and that is what American people like to see.

"There is nothing in the modern world," says Mrs. John Lane, "so absolutely real and convincing as pretense. It has set itself a standard of living which can best be described as the Champagne Standard." Again she says: "The backbone of the American republic is its ice water drinking glass."

I do not desire to criticize the drinking customs of Europe, yet when a certain class of snobs presume to indicate that a president of the United States or other high official must depart from the almost universal custom of this country and spread wines upon his table whenever he has "quality" folk to dine, they should be reminded that the first principle of good breeding is to conform to the habits of the host so long as you partake of his hospitality.

Georgia's Junior Senator

(Columbus Ledger.)

While it will be many months yet before the present term of the Hon. Hoke Smith, as a member of the upper house of the national congress expires, and a long time before anything like a campaign should be inaugurated to fill this important place in 1914, the fact that a ready one person has announced in opposition to the distinguished senior senator from this state, naturally awakens interest on the part of his friends and they are sure to rally to the support of the former governor without delay.

During his short stay in Washington, Hoke Smith has made a most creditable record, not only for the great commonwealth which he represents, but for the entire south. Being a man of commanding address, thoroughly progressive and quite familiar with the needs of his home state and his people, Hoke Smith is the right man in the right place and Georgians will not bear to a change in 1914—and they should not.

Hoke Smith is not only a national, but an international figure, and he stands high in the councils of official Washington. His presence in the capitol is a credit to Georgia and his influence an agency for inestimable good to the people of this state and the Southland. Being progressive to the core, he is sought for counsel and advice by all his colleagues as well as by the president himself, who is an ardent advocate of the progressive policies fathered by the distinguished Georgian. Only the past week press dispatches told of two conferences between President Wilson and Senator Smith, one of which was sought by the executive. This is an unusual compliment.

No representative in the upper branch of congress is more active in behalf of his constituents than Senator Smith. While he has only been in Washington a short time, he has already accomplished much in behalf of the people of Georgia. Among the latest and most important measures procured through his efforts was the securing of an appropriation of $50,000 to start work in the agricultural department toward improving the modes of marketing products of the farm, which is intended to aid both the producer and the consumer. Numerous other things could be mentioned in connection with the activity of the junior senator, all of which clearly indicates that he has the interests of his home people at heart.

Undoubtedly Hoke Smith is the right man in the right place, and the Ledger hereby heartily indorses him for re-election to the high office, which he is holding with so much credit to Georgia and to the nation.

Georgians must keep the former governor in the United States senate.

"Oh," said the stranger, "about half a sovereign."

"Done!" said Sheridan, and, paying the man, he fired into the middle of the flock, killing a dozen ducks.

OUR MADDENING MOODS

By Graham Hood.

Few problems that threaten the calm of the matrimonial seas are more treacherous in their character than our varying moods which, like the deadly derelict, often defy the skill of the more careful mariner.

So far as we ourselves are concerned, the matter of our mood may seem a very inconsequential thing. Coming uninvited and from a source that is usually so indefinite that it is only with the greatest difficulty that we can trace it to its actual cause, it generally departs as mysteriously as it came, and if there are no signs of wreckage to mark its course it may as promptly be forgotten.

While this may be the effect of a mood upon its possessor, however, there is always the possibility that those upon whom it is inflicted will not take it so calmly. In their eyes the mood, which to us spells introspection, may have all the qualities of studied indifference, or the bantering spirit which we display so playfully may seem to them a sorry substitute for the help or sympathy which they crave.

A mood is a serious thing, not that it is of so much importance in itself, but because of the consequences to which it may lead. Just as one word spoken in anger may open the door for a most disastrous domestic storm, so the mental attitude with which we respond to the advances of another may pave the way for a serious misunderstanding.

It may seem absurd to speak of the wisdom of mastering our moods, yet it is necessary that husband and wife shall rise above such emotional selfishness if they are to find the secret of happiness together. For our moods are extremely selfish and it is impossible to evade this admission. Because the husband has been annoyed by some trivial detail that has not turned out exactly as he might wish to have it, it is neither manly nor just that he should vent his feelings of disappointment upon the one who is nearest, and who should be dearest to him. Love does not grow stronger when either of the two is so fearful of offending the other that the possible effect of every word must be studied before an opinion is uttered.

There can be no freedom, no peace, no harmony, in a home where the wife must be so watchful of her husband's moods that she dare not speak of the matter that is uppermost in her mind until she has cautiously taken soundings and has assured herself that she may reasonably anticipate smooth sailing.

Many of the tragedies of domestic life have their origin in this particular phase of selfishness. The husband, thinking so much of his own troubles that he has no energy left to be expended on thoughts about his wife, may feel himself sadly abused because she protests at his apparent neglect, or she, overwhelmed by the score of petty annoyances of the day, may fall so far short of meeting his expectations as to give rise to serious doubts in his mind concerning the lasting qualities of her affections, when all that is the matter with them is an attack of egotism that has made them forgetful of the rights of the other.

Such exhibitions of emotional intensity are not only selfish and cowardly—they are inexpressibly silly, as well. Where love is so sincere that the attitude between husband and wife is one of complete sympathy, each supplements the other in a union so genuine that the efforts of both tend invariably toward the same goal. When either is the victim of the moods of the other little harmony can exist, for harmony is a quality which requires the co-operation of at least two individualities. It matters little how willing one may be, it is impossible for that one to produce the harmony unaided.

Mr. Bryce's Farewell to America

(New York Evening Post.)

Mr. Bryce's farewell to America—which all Americans hope will not be final—cannot but leave us all with a heightened admiration of the man and renewed thanks to him for all that he has done for this country. Throughout the six years that he has been ambassador, he has displayed a friendliness and a tact without a flaw. While loyally serving his own government, he has been on the best terms with ours; and has rightly interpreted his chief mission as being that of representing one people to the other. The keen interest which he has continued to take in all that makes for our national progress, and the helpfulness and reasoned optimism which have marked many of his addresses on our public affairs—as they marked his speech at the Pilgrim's dinner in his honor last night—have placed us repeatedly in his debt. People have listened to him gladly all over the country because they have believed him entirely sincere and eminently sagacious. No foreign country ever sent to us a more intelligent observer. His official dispatches during the period of his being at the British embassy at Washington, must, of course, long remain guarded in the archives; but when they finally come to be open to the historian, he will surely find them as instructive and perhaps as racy as those of the Venetian ambassadors. In the meantime, Mr. Bryce lays down an office which, as far as the wishes of Americans are concerned, he might have continued to fill as long as he lives. Departing, he must be conscious of being borne away on a mighty volume of grattitude and godspeeds.

Of that there's not the slightest doubt.
We stretch anticipation's wings

But, man, the difference it makes
When all the bills come piling in!

The world is such a pleasant place
Whenever we go out to buy!
With winning tongue and smiling face
Each salesman shows us wares to try.
It warms the cockles of the heart—
But how we learn to hate the man
Who on set days collects his part
That's due on the installment plan!

While buying is the day's concern
Sufficient in itself is ship,
And very hard it is to learn
That bitter is the price of bliss.
As beauty's tone is sadness, so

While, "Please try this," sounds well, you know,
It soon will change to "Please remit!"

SOCIOLOGICAL WORKERS CLOSE THEIR CONGRESS

Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson Becomes Officer of Congress—Dr. Cope's Address

The closing session of the second annual southern Sociological congress, held in Wesley Memorial church Tuesday night, was addressed by Dr. Henry Cope, and a few others, who spoke informally. Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, was elected corresponding secretary for the sociological congress for the state of Virginia.

The closing session was one of the most impressive of the congress. After the set addresses were delivered it was turned into an informal session and various enthusiastic short talks were made.

The night session was preceded by the usual departmental conferences in the afternoon. No meeting place for next year was decided on, but the committee appointed to select the place for the session will hold a meeting within the next few weeks probably.

The principal address of the closing session delivered by Dr. Henry Cope, general secretary of the religious education association on the "Call and Qualifications of the Social Workers."

Dr. Cope said in part:

"CALL UNMISTAKABLE.

"Those who would be of service socially do not need to wait for a call from above the skies; they can hear it from across the street. The heavenly call is humanity's cry. A passion for people and a faith in human possibilities, these are the calls and qualifications of every social worker.

"The attempt to save the world by mere mechanical readjustments is like trying to heal a disease by changing the clothes. The social worker is more than a reformer; his service means the chance to control social conditions for the sake of forming the new generations. This is his vision, to make the new humanity.

"IS CONSTRUCTIVE.

"The call to social work is a call to build up rather than to tear down. It makes us see this civic social life as the soil in which character is formed. We seek physical betterment, industrial justice, recreational opportunities for the sake of the man and woman who must grow by them into greater moral and spiritual efficiency.

"Social work is a chance to help grow a better, finer race. The social worker who starts in the spirit of regulating the neighbors, enforcing his habits on others, is bound to meet disaster, but the highest service awaits those who seek to make this world, their city and village, the place where it is easier to go right than to go wrong, where it is natural to grow aright.

THE PROPER SPIRIT.

"The call of social workers is the call of an enlightened passion. The notable failures have been those moved by emotion, by ignorant feeling. If we would have a sufficient supply of workers, if we would make sure that all the youth of tomorrow are animated by this passion, it is our task today to train them in the spirit and laws of this service.

"The most serious test of a school and a college is whether it animates youth with the spirit and informs them in the principles of social living and serving, the principles of social living fit for public living. Is it not often true that the saddest opposition met by social workers is due to the class spirit and the selfish materialism developed in the schools?

YOUTH IS NEEDED.

"It is folly to speculate about the calling of the social servants who are already mature and in service; we want to make sure of the inspiration and calling of the youth who will have to carry this work forward. What are the homes doing to make social servants out of our children? Most people are anxious to reform the downtown wards, but the big reforms have to come in our own houses, in our own way of interpreting life to our children. We need a generation of new spirit and this must come from the training of children in the spirit of love and service and social obligation.

"It is time that social workers turned from tinkering this poor old framework of society, trying to cure a cancer by, caico patches, long enough to ask: 'What is the use of reorganizing conditions when we are educating a race to perpetuate old conditions?' Social workers need a vision beyond soup and brooms, and beyond ordinances and laws, to see the need of changes in the hearts and habits of men. If you would reconstruct society you will have to work where men are made in character, in homes and schools."

Dr. A. J. McKelway, acting president of the congress, touched on the Phagan murder mystery at the closing session by saying, "If social conditions in Atlanta were of the best—if conditions in the factories were of the best, and lastly, if children of such tender years were not forced to work, little Mary Phagan would probably never have been murdered."

"The Sociological congress must do its share of enlightenment," he said.

SHE DEBUTS IN ATLANTA

MISS SOPHYE BARNARD,

Who is starring with Lou Anger and company at the Forsyth theater this week in Keith vaudeville. She has a lovely voice and has already become universally popular with local theatergoers.

The first presentation on any stage of "The Song of the Heart," a pretentious musical playlet, was made at the Forsyth Monday afternoon. The prima donna was Miss Sophye Barnard, one of the youngest and most talented vocalists on the light opera stage, who has just concluded a brilliant engagement with "The Man with Three Wives," the latest Frank Lehar opera, which had a long run in both New York and Boston.

"The Song of the Heart" is by Edgar Allen Woolf, who has written extensively for the vaudeville stage, and the music has been composed by Anatol Friedland. Miss Barnard will have the assistance of Lou Anger, a German comedian, who has been seen in this city as a headline vaudeville attraction.

Miss Barnard bears an enviable and artistic reputation, won by a series of engagements in the most successful musical plays of recent seasons. Prior to her engagement as prima donna with "The Man with Three Wives," she was the prima donna with "The Woman Haters," which was later renamed "The Pretty Little Widow." She had previously established herself in New York, however, in the title role of "The Red Widow," which was offered with Raymond Hitchcock and Miss Barnard in the two principal roles. In this play she won instant recognition, and was credited with the most pronounced success of the season.

She had been associated with Mr. Anger in two previous plays, "The Merry Widow" and "The Gay Hussars," with which she really established herself on the light music stage, having previously been a concert singer, winning high honors in this field before she was eighteen years of age.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS TO PLAN GREAT MEETING

Second Baptist and the First Christian Workers to Meet at Supper Wednesday

Sunday's big mass meeting of two Sunday schools and their friends and invited guests, will be discussed Wednesday evening by the officers and teachers of the two schools themselves, at a supper to be tendered by one of them to the other as a return courtesy.

Recently the Second Baptist officers and teachers were the hosts of the First Christian officers and teachers. It was a unique gathering, without precedent in Atlanta. The contest between the two schools was discovered to have brought them closer together for the common good, rather than to have separated them.

Wednesday evening, commencing at 6:30 o'clock, the officers and teachers of the First Christain Sunday school will be the hosts of their rival workers in the Second Baptist school. The supper will be served in the big dining room in the basement of the First Christian church, and will be prepared in the completely equipped kitchen of the church. Its preparation and service will be under the efficient supervision of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Christian.

One unique feature of the supper Wednesday evening is promised to be that none of the school officers and neither of the pastors will talk about the contest between the two schools. Only the teachers, inclusive the officers of the line, they might be termed—will discuss the big affair, each side revealing to the other its most valuable and helpful information.

General discussion, however, will be accorded the plans for the big mass meeting in the auditorium next Sunday morning. That meeting will be without any parallel in southern records. In the first place, it will combine in one session two of the very largest Sunday schools that the south ever has known—and at that, two schools of distinct denominations. It will begin at 10:30 o'clock, after the Second Baptist school and the First Christian school have met on the state capitol grounds and march together to the auditorium.

In line with the new activities in the First Christian church, due largely to the interest and enthusiasm aroused by the Sunday school contest, comes the announcement that the board of deacons and elders, at the meeting Monday night, decided to establish missions of the church throughout Atlanta. This is important, for the missions will be the first that the Christian denomination has established here. These will be under the supervision and dependent upon the support of the First Christian church. The committee appointed to arrange the details and locate the missions consists of H. M. Patterson, chairman; C. V. LeCraw, C. G. Hannah, A. Mc Beatty and Rev. Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian.

Dr. Bricker will attend the supper Wednesday evening and will sit side by side with Rev. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church. One hundred and seventy-five covers will be laid.

FAVORABLE WEATHER HELD NEW CROP MONTHS DOWN

Market in New York Closed 3 Points Off to 3 Up From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 30.—The cotton market opened slowly steady at a decline of 6 to 8 points on easier cables than due, unfavorable Liverpool political advices and favorable weather. July, July and later deliveries made new low ground for the movement on the call, but there was heavy covering at the decline. Prices rallied 2 or 3 points from the lowest shortly after the call. May was relatively firm, selling up to last night's closing figures on a limit, further covering by scattered shorts.

The official forecasts were for fair weather throughout the entire belt tonight and Thursday, but the market continued to improve during the middle of the morning until prices had recovered to practically the closing figures of last night. Houses with southern connections continued selling, and when the market from shorts slackened somewhat prices again sagged off, with active positions about 4 to 5 points lower at midday.

There was no change in the weather or crop news, but prices gradually worked up to a new range of about 4 points on July, while new crops rallied to within 2 points or two of last night's closing figures.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 30.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 6 to 11 points on a much lower Liverpool market than due, disquieting rumors regarding possibility of war in Europe and what the local trade termed a favorable weather map. The weather over the cotton region was clear and dry, but the bulls considered that temperatures were not sufficiently low and pointed to a cold wave in the northwest as likely to cause more lower temperatures in the south. This and heavy profit taking by shorts caused a reaction of 10 to 12 points after the call, but selling soon became heavier than ever and at the end of the first half hour of business prices were 12 to 14 points under yesterday's close, all months standing at new low levels for the season.

At a level 8 to 11 points down, profit-taking became very heavy among shorts and the demand was more than equal to the offers made. From the middle of the morning the market had a better tone and showed a slight tendency to react, especially after reports of fewer bookings in Liverpool and a slightly better outlook for long account, even among scalpers, was in evidence at any time. At noon the trading months were 5 to 6 points under the close of yesterday.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Logan & Bryan: Prices may go lower, but we would follow the short side with caution.

Nordyn & Co.: The market at the close seems to point to lower prices unless the outlook for the coming crop should become less favorable.

Hayden, Stone & Co.: While there was small inducement to buy cotton for an advance, we were led to take a more cautious attitude on this decline.

Thompson, Towle & Co.: We look for further declines.

Miller & Co.: As long as weather continues so favorable we advise selling the new crop positions.

COTTON GOSSIP

The Times-Democrat says: From the most reliable information received this week it seems very probable that Liverpool operators will take up some 50,000 bales on New York yet on May contracts, and report them to also some extent probable that some New Orleans operators will take up some 25,000 bales on May contracts, while it to New Orleans and tender it on New Orleans May contracts. May long interest was liquidated in some volume in New Orleans yesterday, and the talent seemed to believe that somebody was buying new crop deliveries. There was plenty of talk about prospective war in Europe, of heavy liquidation of European securities by foreign holders, and of the excellent crop prospects throughout the cotton belt. But the talent got all mixed up when endeavoring to analyze the direct influence of these forces at work in the market, and at the close were perfectly sure were confined by the irregular price changes.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow-Jones summary: Steel Corporation's net earnings for the first quarter total $34,426,856, or $500,600 more than the net earnings for the quarter of 1912. Reading earnings for March net all subsidiaries will show increase, from nine months net increase $4,700,500. California senate approves new gambling bill which allows those who cannot become citizens right to hold land under 10 years' lease. Railroads are protesting the new freight rate increase. King of Montenegro informed Austrian ambassador that he would accept almost any terms. Wabash railroad earnings increased 15 to 18 per cent. United States Steel orders show increase for first twenty days of 500 Southern Pacific lands to federal government. Railroad will appeal. Governor Sulzer says he will not sign uniform five-cent telephone bill for Greater New York. Twelve industrials advanced 1.15 per cent, and rails declined 1.

The Japanese question looks as if it would be lost sight of as a market factor. Steel earnings will be before the estimates at Wall street, but show but little rate of over 10 per cent on the common stock. Short interest is large and settling should be on. Rate relief should come soon, even if prices go lower eventually.—Tate.

GRAIN GOSSIP

The Chicago Inter Ocean says: It was noticed in the market in May wheat continue to sell, that many of them are taking on July at the same price on one-eighth cent discount; traders made the point that from now on to the weather and corn reports, especially the buying of the latter, will be the attract more attention and become a market factor. Gossip in corn is that Armour Grain Company is doing a big trade, and the eastern longs are believed to be short out. There is no prospect of important deliveries of cash corn in the first part of next month. One of the cash handlers is quoted as saying he bought 100,000 bushels of cash corn in the country yesterday for May-June shipment, and another bought 40,000 bushels.

Partlet, Frazier & Co. say: We favor purchases of wheat on recessions. Corn—We would advise to buy on breaks until there is more evidence of a large movement from first hands. Provisions—Have good support on recent sales.

Logan & Bryan: Professionals leading sellers of wheat, Commission houses scattered buyers. Cudahy selling July corn. Boying is scattered. Commission houses have bought July and September oats.

Cash grain bid forecast: Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan, Iowa and Kansas, fair; Wisconsin, fair to warmer tomorrow; Minnesota, fair; cold and cooler; Dakotas, frost tonight, colder; Nebraska, colder tonight; unsettled.

JOURNAL OF COMMERCE REPORT

NEW YORK, April 30.—Journal of Commerce says:

North Carolina—It is yet too early for definite estimates on acreage, but there is a tendency to slightly increase the acreage decrease, in many localities the season is early and favorable. Unseasonable freezing has made the ground is too dry now for cotton to come up and a rain is needed to insure a successful start. On the whole, the prospects seem to have had a better start than usual.

Georgia—Owing to the excessive rains in the spring, preparation of the ground has been poor, necessitating considerable replanting and in many localities causing poor stands. Cool nights have also been detrimental, and crops badly needed to germinate fair early stands. Many farmers are only fifty per cent planted and there is considerable complaint of scarcity of seed. Many reported reductions in the planted acreage are due to increased planting of grain, but, on the whole, present indications point to the same acreage as last year. Fertilizers are used more liberally. The season is about ten days late.

A BRIDE OF TODAY

MISS IDA REID.

Miss Reid is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Reid, of Dothan, Ala., her marriage to Mr. Joseph Billings Moor to be a brilliant church affair taking place April 13.

PAYNE-HOPKINS WEDDING WAS A BEAUTIFUL EVENT

The marriage of Miss Helen Payne to Mr. Charles Hopkins, Jr., was an interesting event of Tuesday evening, taking place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs Carroll Payne, on Peachtree street.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop John Gunn, of Mississippi, and witnessed by relatives and a few friends.

The only attendants were Mrs. Alex Smith, Jr., and Mr. Frank Adair, matron of honor and best man, and the ribbons were held by Miss Eloise Robinson and Miss Katherine Dickey.

The service was followed by supper, the guests seated at small tables placed in the long hall, the bride's table being in the dining room.

In the decorations of the handsome home, Bermuda lilies prevailed, with pink roses and hydrangeas to furnish a glowing touch of color.

The English oak paneling of the large reception hall was an effective background for the fragrant white blossoms and smilax used. Graceful garlands of the glossy-leafed vine were festooned with bunches of lilies in a Grecian frieze effect. Great clusters of the same beautiful blossoms banked the straight line of the banisters and emphasized the landing, which curved outward like a musicians' balcony, the semi-circle defined by clusters of lilies, and in the center a great French basket filled with the lilies and asparagus ferns. Bows and streamers of broad white satin ribbon added to the artistic effect, the ribbons caught about the central chandelier and side wall lights, which burned softly through the surrounding snowy white lilies.

The altar was arranged in the drawing room one entire side of the room massed with palms, at each end a tall cathedral candelabra burning several dozen tapers, seven branch candlesticks shining through the palms above. Clusters of lilies showed against the background of luxuriant green and above the palms pink hydrangeas were banked on the top of the tall mantel which was completely hidden by the wealth of green.

Caught to each end of the white satin prie dieu were the long stemmed lilies and a fringe of lilies of the valley was draped across the front of it.

Mrs. Alex Smith, Jr., whose own marriage was a brilliant event of two years ago, preceded the bride, who entered with her father and was met at the altar by the groom and Mr. Adair.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon draped over ivory white satin. The long sleeves were finished with a panting of white net which fell over the little girdleless bands of the wearer, whose ornaments were the pearls worn by her mother and sister at their weddings, and a diamond necklace, the gift of the groom.

A tiny cluster of orange blossoms was used on the corsage and another little spray on the skirt and caught in the chiffon bows of the white slippers. The long court train hung from the shoulders and was covered by the many folds of tulle which softened the exquisite veil of point lace which was caught to the dark hair of the lovely young bride by graceful sprays of orange blossoms and which was also worn by the bride's sister and mother.

In keeping with every perfect detail of the bride's toilet and her own dainty beauty was her bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The lovely matron of honor wore a becoming gown of cream net combined with lace.

A girdle and sash of flowered chiffon harmonizing with the bouquet of pink sweetpeas she carried.

The dining room with its white woodwork and mahogany was a perfect setting for the picture made by the bride's table and its circle of guests. The windowed recess at one end of the room was banked with pink roses and Bermuda lilies and clouds of asparagus fern, the same flowers and fern filling silver vases on the mantel and buffet.

The table had in the center a circular plateau of pink roses and white stock from which rose a tall silver vase of Bermuda lilies. Four silver candlesticks tipped with white chiffon shades on which were caught sprays of orange blossoms alternated with four silver vases holding pink roses and white stock. Pink creamed fruits and bonbons filled silver dishes and the place cards were hand-painted in orange blossoms. The favors were white moire boxes embroidered with tiny white ribbon roses and held cake for the girls and cigarettes for the men.

The bride's cake, heart-shaped and embossed with lilies of the valley and roses, was on the buffet, the symbols being drawn by Mrs. Adair, Miss Ledson, Mr. Milton Dargan and Mr. Charles Sciple, Jr.

Seated with the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adair, Miss Leone Ladson, Miss Nancy Hill Hopkins, Miss May Atkinson, Mr. Dozier Lowndes, Mr. Milton Dargan, Jr., Mr. Charles Sciple, Jr., and Mr. Clarence Knowles.

Miss Ladson wore a gown of flesh-colored chiffon combined with French blue. Miss Hopkins' gown was pink charmeuse. Miss Atkinson wore a bebunting gown of white chiffon over satin, and Mrs. Adair's gown was rose pink chiffon over charmeuse the same shade.

The tables at which the guests were seated were decorated with vases of pink roses and white stocks, the long hall with its palms and flower-decked tables having the appearance of a loggia on which the rooms opened. In the second drawing room American Beauty roses were used and in the music room pink roses and shasta daisies formed the delightful flower combination.

Mrs. Payne wore a becoming gown of shell pink charmeuse combined with brocade the same lovely tint. The girdle was a happy fantasy of the charmeuse and bronze colored tulle the corsage, made of ivory colored lace and chiffon, the short sleeves edged with bronze and crystal beads which were also introduced on the corsage.

Mrs. Hopkins wore a gown of black charmeuse, the corsage of chiffon and lace the graceful skirt draped over chiffon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left for a stay of several weeks in the mountains of Virginia, and on their return will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Payne until the erection of their own home in Druid Hills.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Johnny Chuck sat on his doorstep with a heavy heart. It was now two days since he had seen Farmer Brown's boy carry off one of his three baby Chucks, the one who had been the biggest and smartest, and, alas! the one who hadn't minded. So Johnny Chuck's heart was heavy. He could think of nothing but that lost baby. You see, Johnny Chuck had been very proud, very proud indeed of him, and now he didn't know what had become of him or what dreadful thing might have happened to him. Way down on the edge of the old orchard he caught just a glimpse of a bright blue coat. Sammy Jay was down there. Johnny's eyes snapped angrily.

"It's all his fault, every bit his fault!" he muttered. "If it hadn't been for him Farmer Brown's boy wouldn't have known anything about my house. I hate Sammy Jay!"

In his sorrow and trouble Johnny Chuck had quite forgotten how only a few days before Sammy Jay had given him warning that Farmer Brown's boy was coming. There was no room in his heart for anything but anger when he thought of Sammy Jay. It is true that it really was Sammy Jay's fault in part. If Sammy Jay hadn't told Reddy Fox about Johnny Chuck's new house Reddy might not have found it. And if Reddy hadn't found it and hidden close by to try to catch Johnny Chuck, Sammy Jay wouldn't have had a chance to call Bowser the Hound and Farmer Brown's boy over there to give Reddy a scare. And if—well, if Sammy Jay had not been so fond of mischief there might not have been any trouble at all. That's the worst of mischief—no one knows where it is going to end. It may seem quite harmless, in the beginning and then bring some great trouble to some one as it had in this case.

Start a ball to rolling down a little hill,
'Tis vain to try to stop it from rolling where it will.

That's the way with mischief. It is easy enough to start, but, oh, so hard to stop.

Now, though Johnny Chuck wouldn't have believed it if he had been told, Sammy Jay actually was sorry that the mischief he had started had brought all this trouble to Johnny. Usually Sammy Jay doesn't care how much trouble he makes. In fact, the more he makes the more he seems to enjoy life. But this time he was truly sorry. You see, he had had so much fun watching those three little Chucks learn their lessons in the funny little school in the old orchard that he didn't like to think of harm coming to any of them. He knew better than to go offer his sympathy to Johnny Chuck, so he flew down to his favorite hemlock tree in the Green Forest to try to think of some way to try to undo the mischief he had done.

"Johnny Chuck wouldn't listen to me, but perhaps he would to Peter Rabbit. He and Peter used to be great friends. Peter doesn't know where Johnny has been living since he moved off of the Green Meadows, and I believe I'll go tell him."

To think is to act with Sammy Jay, and away he flew to the dear old brier patch, where Peter Rabbit lives, and this is how it happens that early that morning as he sat on his doorstep with a heavy heart Johnny Chuck saw two long ears pop up out of the grass along the old stonewall, and then the smiling face of Peter Rabbit. Johnny Chuck was glad to see Peter once more, and he tried to smile, too but it is hard to smile with a heavy heart. Peter Rabbit saw right away that something was the matter. He stopped smiling and hurried over to sit beside Johnny Chuck on the doorstep.

"Tell me all about it" said Peter Rabbit.

And Johnny Chuck did. He poured out all his trouble while Peter listened gravely.

40 Is a Woman's Glorious Prime

When a woman realizes that her youth is slipping by! Almost 40!

She looks back and sees that first white hair over her ear. She jerked it out, and laughed! Then she remembers combing her hair each morning and carefully looking and picking out two or three glistening white threads. And the next year! The white hairs pulled out one day were replaced by twice as many the next. And she drifted on.

Are you just drifting toward a gray haired old age at 40, the age that should be the glorious prime of a woman's life?

We wish you would get our booklet "Charm" and read it. (At any of our stores, or sent by mail upon request). It explains why you can safely use Robinnaire Hair Dye. It is not an ordinary vulgar bleach or artificial coloring. We should have named it a Restorative because it is a pure, scientific compound that simply restores the hair to its own original color and beautiful healthy condition. If you have but a few white hairs, don't pull them out. Restore them to their original vigorous color, and at the same time put your hair in a healthy condition and stop its fading. The hair responds quickly to the proper care and treatment, and the woman who wants to keep its beautiful color and fine texture can do so.

Robinnaire Hair Dye is made in our own laboratory and we personally guarantee it to be absolutely pure and harmless. Non-sticky, and does not stain skin or scalp. Use it immediately if your hair is fading and losing vitality. Trial size 25c; by mail 31c; large size, 75c; by mail, 83c. Prepar for light, medium and dark brown and black hair. For sale by all druggists' Pharmacy Stores and Druggists generally.

Stribling-Foster

ROSWELL.—A lovely event of Tuesday afternoon was the wedding of Miss Martha Neel Stribling and Mr. Joseph Hudson Foster, which occurred at 5:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Stribling. The elegant home was beautiful in its decorations of pink roses and ferns, in the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, quantities of white Easter lilies were used.

The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. C. C. Foster, and the bridal party entered from the library formed a pretty group before an improvised altar. The ring bearer, Aubrey Motz, Jr., the little nephew of the bride, bore a cushion of white satin palnted in pink sweet peas. The little flower girl was Margaret Foster, who was dressed in a lacey white frock, carried a graceful basket of pink sweet peas. The bride was a picture of girlish beauty in her traveling suit of matelesse material in a deep blue shade, worn over a blouse of shadow lace draped with blue chiffon, a small and close fitting blue hat completed the stylish costume. Her flowers were a corsage bouquet of valley lilies.

Mr. Greene, of the Methodist church, repeated the impressive ring service with which they plighted their troth. During the ceremony Mrs. Foster softly played "Hearts and Flowers."

Delightful refreshments of pink and white cakes and ices in hearts and wedding bell shapes were served to the guests, which included only the immediate families.

After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Foster will make their home in Roswell.

DOINGS OF ROYALTY

(By Julius Gabe.)

BERLIN.—Last week the kaiser and kaiserin went to Hamburg, where a stay of several weeks will be made. Princess Victoria Luise accompanied her parents, and will take the waters, to set her up for the exciting time to come in May, when all Berlin and Potsdam will be en fete for the wedding.

On the old emperor's "birthday" the mausoleum at Charlottenburg was visited by hundreds of people. Their majesties motored over from Potsdam early in the day, and placed a large wreath of laurels and cornflowers on the coffin in the vault, to which nobody ever has access but the imperial family. The recumbent figures in white marble in the mausoleum had also lovely wreaths upon them, and the whole place was like a garden.

His imperial majesty paid a visit to Ahlbeck, on the Baltic, to see the progress of the block houses he has had built for a recreation home for Berlin workingmen's children. Fraulein Birschner, daughter of the late burgomaster, has been superintending all arrangements, by the express wish of the kaiser, she being used to such good work. His majesty was delighted with everything, and was unstinting with his praise. The home is to be opened on May 1, when it will be filled with delicate little ones, the stronger ones coming in the summer holidays. This is his majesty's own gift to his Berliners.

The kaiser's sister, Princess Adolf, of Schaumberg-Lippe, has been ill with inflammation of the lungs. Her royal highness is now well on the way to convalescence, but was unable to see the prince of Wales when he called at the palace. This was a genuine trouble to her, for the princess, like all the daughters of the Empress Frederick, is very English in her tastes, and she has been looking forward to welcoming the prince to Germany. She will not see him now until May.

The prince of Wales delighted every one at Darmstadt with whom he came in contact. His royal highness spent the holidays at the court of Darmstadt as the guest of the grand duke and duchess of Hesse, Prince and Princess Heinrich, with their sons, Prince Waldemar and Prince Sigismund, joining the family circle. The young English prince has such charming manners, every one says, and is so bescheiden. The prince has now continued his motor tour, usually driving his car. He drives slowly, so that he may see as much of the neighborhood as possible, and for another reason, too, viz: that in Germany the rule of the road is "right," not "left," which is decidedly awkward for foreigners driving at first.

Little Prince Wilhelm, the some day kaiser, who will be seven in July, began his studies in earnest last week. A young and pleasant master of the Danzig gymnasium, Herr Wilms, has been chosen for the task of initiating the crown prince's eldest son in geography, history, drawing and German. The lessons are to be given with the same regularity as in school. Prince Wilhelm already speaks French and English quite nicely, having had a governess for the past three years.

DIAMONDS

A Good Investment

Reviewing the Diamond market for the past twenty years, we find that the price has been constantly growing. Ten years ago they could have been bought for half or less than what they cost today.

The conditions affecting their value, such as the cost of mining and the decrease in quality and quantity found, will undoubtedly force the price higher.

Our partial pay plan enables anyone to possess Diamonds without the inconvenience to pay all cash might occasion.

Talk the plan over with us; it means money invested that will pay you a handsome profit.

A Word to the Storekeeper

What kind of advertising are the manufacturers whose goods you handle doing for you?

Are they advertising merely to create a DESIRE for their products?

Or are they really trying to create a DEMAND?

General publicity may create desire for an article, but the only kind of advertising that benefits the retailer is the kind that creates demand—the kind that brings customers direct to the store.

The one effective way of linking the retail store with nationally distributed merchandise is to use daily newspaper space.

You, Mr. Retailer, understand the value of newspaper advertising.

Next time you talk with a manufacturer who wants to help you sell his goods through advertising, tell him what you know about the efficiency of THE JOURNAL in creating a demand for good articles.

Crackers On the Road---Bisland Joins Club During Thursday

ATLANTA ON ROAD TRIP; OPEN WITH THE BARONS

Nineteen Games Will Be Played Before Club Returns Home May 19--Bisland to Report in Birmingham on Thursday

TODAY'S GAME.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 30. Manager Smith and his Atlanta Crackers are here today to play the Barons. It is the first appearance of the season for the Crackers.

Paul Musser and Graham will likely be the battery for the Crackers with Fittery and Dilzer working for the Barons. Kernan will play left for Atlanta in the absence of Bailey.

After being ousted from the leadership, the Atlanta club Tuesday night hit the road for a long trip, opening in Birmingham with the Molesworth crew in a battle royal on Wednesday. It was after losing the third straight game to the Nashville team that the team was pulled from first place, a position Manager Smith had occupied since the opening of the season.

The present road trip is one of the long and tiresome kind. It begins with a game Wednesday against the Birmingham outfit and winds up May 18 in New Orleans, nineteen games being scheduled to be played on the road. This trip is one of the biggest trials of the entire season. None of the players,a re yet accustomed to road work, and it will take them some time to get away properly.

The cross has always been fairly successful against the Birmingham club, and with a win Wednesday a good start will be made. Nine wins in the nineteen games won't be half bad, and for this break Manager Smith is pulling. It will certainly serve to keep Atlanta in the first division and give it an excellent chance to pull right up after the return home for a long stay at Ponce de Leon.

One big handicap now facing the club is the lack of condition of the pitching staff. All except Price are complaining of sore arms, due to the changeable weather of the past three weeks, and it is with effort that they are able to work at full game. The other members of the club are in good shape, but when the pitchers can't hold down the runs of the opposition it is rather hard to win a ball game.

Before leaving Manager Smith announced that he hadr eceived word from the Pittsburg club that Bisland, the new infielder, would join the club in Birmingham on Thursday morning. The reporting of Bisland means that he will go to left field and Kernan will draw his unconditional release if the statement by Manager Billy Smith's press agent counts for anything. This leaves the impression that Williams will be retained as utility, Bisland going to short and Williams to the bench as soon as Bill Bailey is able to take up his work in left field.

Buck Becker was left in Atlanta pending his release to some minor league team. With the reporting of Bisland and the release of one more player, the club will be within the player and salary limit.

The rules for the present road trip are as follows:

April 30-May 1, 2, 3--Birmingham.
May 4, 5, 6, 7--Montgomery.
May 8, 9, 10, 11--Montgomery.
May 12, 13, 14, 15--Memphis.
May 16, 17, 18--New Orleans.

Olympic Club Changes Name

CHICAGO, April 30.—The "American Olympic Games association," which plans to hold a week's athletic carnival here from June 28 to July 6, changed its name to the "International Athletic Championship association" Tuesday at a meeting which followed receipt of an urgent cable message from Baron Coubertin, of Paris, president of the international Olympic committee.

Baron Coubertin requested the committee to make a change to a name that would not conflict with the title of the International Olympic organization.

At the time the change was made the directors of the games association made public a message from James E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., that he was "confident that the A. A. U. national championships would be awarded to Chicago.

"Widespread international co-operation" was promised the Chicago games committee by Baron Coubertin in his message requesting the change.

Box Twelve Rounds

YORKSTOWN, Ohio, April 30.—Otto Kercher, of Cleveland, and Eddie Murphy, of Boston, lightweights, boxed twelve fast rounds here last night. Murphy won the decision.

VANDY EASY FOR GEORGIA

ATHENS, Ga., April 30.—Georgia leaned against McClure's benders for 10 hits, 8 tallies, including two homers, two triples and two doubles and defeated Vandy Corley pitched masterful ball, holding Vanderbilt to three hits, two being scratches.

McClure, who was the target of Georgia swatters, kept his runs scattered to one an inning, except when in the sixth, five hits, netting four tallies were secured by Georgia's hairy swatmen.

One homer by Pitcher Corley, one triple by Hutchens and a double by Clements fell in this inning.

Ginn, of Georgia, also ditched one for the full circuit.

The Georgia team fielded beautifully and hit whenever men were on the paths.

*This game puts Vanderbilt, on the de*fensive and they must win Wednesday to tie Georgia in standing.

Lanett Lost

LANGDALE, Ala., April 30.—Langdale defeated Lanett here Saturday in the first game of the season on the local grounds. The special feature of the game was the splendid pitching of James for the local boys, who fanned seventeen men and only gave up five hits, while Humphrey was hit quite often. Batteries: James and Bledsoe; T. Humphrey and F. Humphrey. Score: Langdale, 10; Lanett, 2.

Shields Released

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 30.—Catcher Ivy Shields, former captain of the University of Georgia baseball team, was released to the Portland, Ore., club by the Cleveland American league club today, and Outfielder Charley Betts was released to the Beaumont club of the Texas league.

MOST CHAMPIONSHIP CLUBS HAVE ONE GOOD CATCHER

Good catchers are one of the greatest essentials for a winning ball club, and one good receiver is better than two, this being exemplified when it is pointed out that most every club that has made a success in pennant races were equipped with one first-class performer who set out and caught most every game of the schedule.

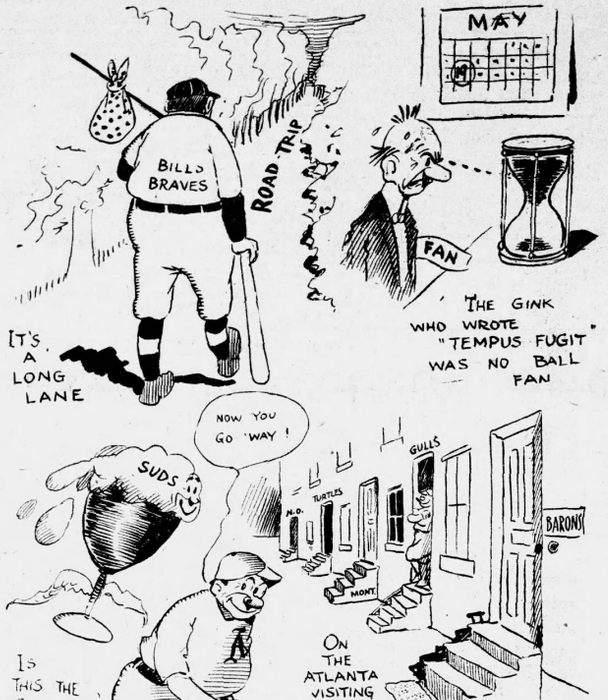
Just take a glance at the successful clubs of the past few years and you will find that the New York Nationals, Pittsburg Pirates, Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Americans and Boston Red Sox all worked one good catcher most of the way through the season.

With Johnny McGraw last season and in 1912 it was Chief Meyers who did practically all the work with the mitt and mask. Both years the Giants copped a pennant. Meyers caught so often that he was familiar with the work of each pitcher on his club and at the same time knew full well the ability of the batters of the opposing clubs. When Fred Clarke recently won a flag with his Pittsburg team it was Gibson who did the bulk of the catching. Gibson caught most every game of the year and was so familiar with opposing batters that the Pittsburg staff of mediocre hurlers went through the league like a house afire.

In the American league in 1910-11 the Mackmen won flags and incidentally copped world's honors and doing all the receiving was Ira Thomas. Thomas had served some time in the league and was proficient at the art of fooling the opposing batters. Last season at Boston, Carrigan did the bulk of the work for the world's champions.

The practice of developing one good catcher is fast being tried in the minor circuits. Molesworth at Birmingham last season using George Yants almost exclusively in winning the Southern league flag. In past years Atlanta has made a great success of using one good receiver such as Jimmy Archer, Sid Smith, Ed Sweeney and Nig Clarke. These boys all did the bulk of the receiving for Billy Smith, and in each case good clubs were turned out.

This year Billy Smith has two good catchers in Joe Dunn and Pat Graham, and it is probable that he will alternate them. This may meet with good results, however, past records show that to work one man most every day gets the best results. Of course, an additional catcher is needed, but in many instances it would not hurt to use one man almost exclusively and keep the other for emergencies.



SOME THOUGHTS IN PASSING

What's the Trouble With Lookout Club?

Fans in Chattanooga Think Team Looks Good and Can't Understand Losses

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 30.—Local critics who have analyzed Elberfeld's forlorn hopes are of the opinion that the one real cause of the fiasco which has been perpetrated by the Lookouts lies in poor judgment in the use of the hurlers. It is argued that Elberfeld has yanked and failed to yank his flingers with bad judgment in a number of engagements. Poor coaching on the lines is also being condemned as contributory to the continual defeats.

No other explanation can be offered here for the failure of such a staff as Coveleskie, Sommers, Troy, Moore and Chappelle to deliver a better brand of goods than has been served up. On paper and on spring workouts this staff is as strong as any in the league.

The offensive play of the Lookouts throughout the season has been beyond reproach and in most cases the fielding has been right up to the notch. This leaves no pitching ineffectiveness to which the blame for the Lookouts lowly station can be attached.

Local fans still have great faith in the team, especially following the addition of Thrasher and the return of Gillespie to the game and it will be hard to convince local fanatics that the Lookouts will not eventually be in the running in view of the formidable club that has been corrollade. It appears only a matter of time until the twirlers will come around no matter how handled.

Gillespie's absence has been greatly felt by the Moccans both on the offense and defense as Jimmy was taking care of all in left and hitting the pill to the tune of .328 when incapacitated by a "charley horse." The ex-Providence athlete should be all right, however, within the next few days as stiffness in the injured member is all that bothers him.

When the Lookouts do once hit their stride Elberfeld believes the club will play winning and consistent ball as the presence of experienced heads upon the team will prevent fluctuation. The remarkable performance of "Gabby" Street are balm for all the pangs which local fanatics have suffered.

PIPE DREAM, SAYS CHANCE

NEW YORK, April 30.—"There is nothing in the report that Hal Chase is to be traded to Boston or any other club," said Frank Chance last night. The manager of the New York Americans, admitted that Boston and other clubs would be glad to get Chase, but characterized the idea that there was any intention on the local club's part to dispose of the star first baseman as a "pipe dream."

Chase is booked to play first base for the highlanders tomorrow if the weather permits a game. Chance planning to lay off from active work for a while until his injured leg is back in shape again. There was little or no evidence in Chance's last appearance with the team that his injured limb was bothering him, but the results of a strenuous afternoon's play make themselves felt in a stiffness for which the club's trainer has prescribed a rest.

Dublin Giants Victors

NEW YORK, April 30.—Jim Coffey, the Dublin Giant, knocked out "Whitey" Allen in the first round of a scheduled ten round bout here last night.

Cannot Make Hits Count for Scorers

Atlanta Was Able to Score but Nine Runs on 27 Hits--Outbatted Vol Outfit

An advantage of thirty points in hitting counts but for little when the luck breaks against you. During the series between Atlanta and Nashville the Crackers had a team batting average of .259 against .229 for Nashville and yet the Vols got away with three straight games and threw the Cracker crew down to second place.

All of the runs scored by the Nashville crew were not luck by any means. Bill Schwartz handling a team that knows how to play the game for all it is worth. In one of the games it was luck all the way through that copped the visitors, yet in every game the players showed an aptitude to take advantage of every opening shown and this is what wins ball games.

On twenty-one hits the Vols scored 18 runs and Atlanta was able to get but 9 tallies on twenty-seven hits. In other words on six fewer hits the Vols made 7 more runs.

Here is the way the teams hit in the three games:

Club.	AB.	R	H	BA.
Atlanta	104	9	27	.259
Nashville	94	16	21	.223

The fielding records:

Club.	PO.	A	E	FA.
Atlanta	81	49	8	.942
Nashville	81	39	5	.960

TODAY

MOBILE, Ala., April 30.—The Mobile Southern league team arrived from Memphis this morning and will meet Montgomery at the Monroe park field this morning in the first of a series of four games. Hogg will pitch for Mobile and Brown will do the twirling. C. Brown and Donahue will do the heavy work for the visitors. The weather is ideal.

NEW ORLEANS, April 30.—New Orleans and Memphis met in the first game of a series of four games here today. Manager Bernard and his players arrived a little late, but word was received that Harrell and Haigh would be today's selection. For New Orleans, "Dummy" Taylor and Yantz are the nominees. Manager Frank has reduced his team today by releasing Pitcher Williams to the Evansville Central league club, under an optional agreement.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 30.—Nashville's baseball team made its first appearance of the season here this afternoon. The batteries are, Chattanooga, More and Street; Nashville, Fleharty and Noyes.

BAN'S UMPS WEAR STARS

CHICAGO, April 30.—In addition to white uniforms which it has been announced umpires in the American league will wear on special occasions, such as the presence of the president of the United States at a game, President B. B. Johnson said today that he had planned further decorations for his arbiters.

The latest decorative effect will serve a double purpose, of ornament and showing spectators how long the umpires have been in the service of the league. One braid on the sleeve will mean that he has been in service for one year; two braids two years and so on until five years are reached, when a gold star will replace the five braids. Braids will be added to the sleeve until ten years are reached, when two stars will be the insignia.

Tom Connolly will be entitled to wear two stars and two braids, indicating that he has been an umpire since 1901, a year after the league was organized.

HOW RUNS CAME OVER

The runs were few and far between, Atlanta getting blanked while the Nashville outfit got away with a couple. The Vols scored in the first and ninth and here is the way they were put over.

First inning: With one gone Goalby was passed and after Callahan had filled out, old Clayton Perry hit a double to center and Goalby came over the pan.

Ninth inning: Callahan led off with a clean single to center and was sacrificed up a bag by Schwartz, from where *he tallied when Schwartz placed a sin*gle to left field.

Fight to a Draw

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 30.—Monte Attell, of aSn Francisco, and Ad Zotte, of Stockton, fought fifteen rounds to a draw at Murray last night. *Zotte had the better of the fight in al*most every round. The decision was unpopular.

NEWNAN CLUB GOING GOOD

NEWNAN, Ga., April 30.—The Newnan, Georgia-Alabama league team, defeated a strong Atlanta picked team Tuesday afternoon in a one-sided battle. The final score was 13 to 6. White played excellent ball for the Atlanta boys and everyone was glad to see him, for he was one of the many good players that were canned by Newnan last week.

Lovelet pitched the first five innings for Newnan, fanning out ten and giving up a few scattered hits. Lovelet is a fine pitcher. He played last season in the Maryland league and Manager Bagwell procured him from Washington, D. C. Hawkins pitched the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, fanning four. Hawkins hails from Birmingham and is a promising pitcher. Gentle relieved Hawkins in the eighth. He pitched excellent ball. Manager Bagwell procured Gentle from Ty Cobb's team.

Craiven, the big right fielder of Newnan, did some hard hitting, pro*curing three hits out of four* times up. Howard, the speedy second baseman, had the honor of knocking the ball across the center field fence. Newnan plays the strong Greenville team tomorrow, and a good game is expected. Collins, the local boy, will pitch the first part of the game, if not all.

Manager Bagwell is very much pleased with his men. His infield is one of the strongest that has ever been on the local diamond. Griffin, who came from Pensacola, is one of the best first basemen in the league, and with McCranie at third and Broughton at short and Howard at second infield is almost invincible. All of the outfielders are good. Barnett, Craiven and Robertson held down that part of the field fine.

Wake Forest Lost

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 30.—Adams' good pitching and miserable fielding by the visitors enabled the University of South Carolina to defeat Wake Forest college, champions of North Carolina, 9 to 3, here Tuesday.

THREE STRAIGHT WINS FOR NASHVILLE BUNCH

Inability to Hit Beck at Critical Times Lost Match 2-0, The Game Was Featured by Many Spectacular Plays

The Nashville Vols just refuse to be downed. Taking the third straight game from Atlanta on Tuesday by an even 2-0 score, this being the second shutout the Crackers have been subjected to this year, it was Pitcher Beck who did the work.

Even in defeat the Atlanta club played a most excellent game. Pitcher Beck deserves great credit for the way he fooled the Atlanta batters at critical moments while the Atlanta infield played one of he most jam-up defensive games ever shown on the local lot. Three double plays were pulled by the Atlanta infield and each was fast and sure.

Jim Brady, with a sore arm, did the work for Atlanta and deserves great credit for the masterful way he worked under difficulties. He gave up only two hits and in only two rounds were they bunched sufficiently to get a run.

Wallace Smith and Whitey Alperman both starred at the fielding game, Whitey also here with the willow, making two of the hits garnered off Pitcher Beck.

In the seventh inning with Lindsay on first and one down Noyes placed an easy roller just back of the pitcher on which Smith dashed over and picked up in time to feed to Alperman for a force at second, and Whitey in turn gave it to Agler for the double. It was jam-up work and reminded many of the work of Scotty Walker.

In the fourth Whitey Alperman pulled a grand stop with his gloved hand. Schwartz hit a mean one between first and second and by a long reach Whitey managed to pick it off the ground and throw to Agler for a putout.

Another pretty play in which Smith, Graham and Whitey participated came in the fifth when Beck was on third and Goalby hit to third. Smith threw to Graham and Beck was in a chase. Graham fired the ball to Smith and then received it again, whereupon he timed his chase and tagged out Beck just in time to kill Goalby who was running in second. Whitey made a great stab in tagging out the runner, being forced to leave his feet to get the runner.

Both Brady and Beck were as steady as clocks. Brady walked four and Beck two, while at critical times both feated the plate with unerring accuracy. Brady whiffed three and Beck one.

Del Young got in some dirty work in more than one round. In the ninth he made a rush at Beck who was in the line drive which kept the home club from tying the count. And in the fifth he came within an ace of capturing Graham's line drive, which was the hardest hit of the afternoon.

East Point Licks The Newnan Club

NEWNAN, Ga., April 30.—East Point defeated the Newnan team, of the Georgia-Alabama league, Monday, 4 to 7, in one of the prettiest games of ball seen here this season. It was just too much Driver for the would-be professionals, Newnan being unable to hit when this mound man was going.

Burgess and White hit well for East Point, driving in all of East Point's runs. White also hitting for the circuit. Newnan's pitchers showed up well at times, but were unable to hold the East Point hitters at critical times.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

For the first time in the history of the Cincinnati club its players appeared on the field without red socks in their game at Chicago Tuesday. The result was a 7 to 2 win for the Cubs. The red legs' uniforms had been accidentally left in St. Louis. They had to borrow suits, bats, *shoes and all other para*phernalia from the White Sox, and the team thus resulted in so many errors that the Cubs had a romp.

For twelve runless innings Tuesday Mathewson, New York's great right hander, and Nap Rucker, Brooklyn's scintillating southpaw, fought out the battle of their lives on Ebbetts Field. For seven innings Rucker pitched no-hit ball, only one Giant reaching first. Three hits were scattered for the Giants in three innings until the thirteenth was reached. Six hits were made by the Gothamites in the thirteenth and they won the game, 6 to 0, Rucker being relieved by Stack.

Ty Cobb played his first game with the Detroit club Tuesday, and received an ovation when he stepped to the plate for the first time. He failed to produce the hit that would have scored Crawford, who had singled ahead of him in the third Ty hit safely, scoring a run, but in the eighth he rolled out to the infield, with two men on bases. Ty seemed to have all his old-time speed going from first to third while Weaver threw out Gainor at the initial sack. He got two fielding chances, both easy ones.

Parsons weakened in the last inning of the Memphis-Mobile game, walked a batter with the bases full, and the bulls copped, 3 to 2.

Pole Covaleskie, and Carl Thompson fought out a tedious pitching duel Tuesday, the Lookouts winning in the last stanza on Flick's double and King's single. Each hurler gave up seven hits.

With the score 6 to 2 in favor of the Billies in the ninth inning, New Orleans rallied and drove in four runs, knocking Bagby from the box and tying the score. Darkness put an end to the battle before either side counted again.

Old Time Speed By Tyrus Cobb

Ty Cobb is far from being out of shape. He jumped right into Tuesday's game with Chicago and clearly demonstrated that he has his old time batting eye and he just as fast and tricky as ever. And all this without the least bit of practice.

While Tyrus made just one hit in the game he sent over a run with this and in the eleventh inning of the game he made the play notice by going all the way from first to third on an infield out from short. His only two chances in the field were easily handled.

PEACOCK GOT LONG BATTLE

One of the biggest surprises in prep circles was sprung yesterday afternoon when Peacock-Hill beat T. H. S. 9 to 8 in a slugging match.

Peacock had not won a game up to date, while it was the first that T. H. S. would easily defeat them. The game went for ten innings, when T. H. S. scored, but Peacock came back with two in their half.

For Peacock, Welk and Calloway played a good game, each connecting for three hits apiece. Welk also pitched good ball in the tenth inning.

Parks and Thomas were the bright lights in the T. H. S. line-up, each getting a two-bagger. Parks also pitched good ball. T. H. S. got an early start with one in the first and two in the third, but Holland's homerun for Peacock unevened the score. In the fifth Tech High made one, but Peacock made two, in the sixth T. H. S. secured three and Peacock tied the score in their half. Thus it remained until the tenth, when T. H. S. made one, and Peacock then won the game on singles by Knox, Sams, and triple by Wells.

THE RIME OF THE ANCIENT YANKEE ROOTER.

An ancient rooter meeteth three simps and detaineth one.

It is an ancient rooter,
And he stoppeth one of three.
"By thine ostermoor and glittering lamp,
Pray put me joe," said he.

He holds him with his scintillant orb—
"There was a team," quoth he.
"I know; I've heard that fluff before,"
Answeged the one of three.

He holds him with his (see above);
He could not choose but stay.
And then to that rooter guy
The following words did say:

The ancient rooter begins his tale of the Yankee team.

"Eleven years ago," he said,
"I landed in this town.
We had a team and that team tried
To pull the pennant down.

"We thought they'd win as sure as sin.
We knew they'd stand the pace.
And that was long before we'd heard
Of Keating, Cree or Chase.

"Then season after season passed
And all we drew was blanks;
And never a pennant came to cheer
The flagpole of the Yanks.

"Month after month, year after year,
We wobbled, vague, uncertain,
As idle as a painted ship
On an asbestos curtain.

"Pennants, pennants everywhere,
And all the fans did cuss.
Pennants, pennants everywhere.
Nor any flag for us.

The jinx-bird mark with the Yankees for its own.

"About, about, in reel and rout,
The Jinx-bird stuck close by.
We reefed, we brayed, we knelt and prayed;
But still he would not die.

"Then came the January day
When Hope seemed to advance;
And, though it was a mournful wheeze,
We yelled: "At last a Chance!"

The Ancient Mariner, as you will find from perusing the Rime of the Ancient Rooter tomorrow—had little or nothing in the Trouble League upon various pilots of the Yanks.

Good pitching may mean one of several things. Any time one of Mr. Mack's pitchers can hold the visiting team to 10 hits and 5 runs he has a cinch.

MINUS WAGNER.

Pittsburg minus John Henry Wagner may easily finish among the 1-2-3 people, but Pittsburg minus Wagner will never head off John J. McGraw.

McGraw has a team 20 per cent better than that of last year. With Wagner in trouble Pittsburg will be lucky to be only 10 points shy of the 1912 Pirate outfit. As McGraw beat Clarke 10 games in 1912 through the 154-game schedule, it isn't hard to figure what chance Clarke would have in 1913 with his main gun spiked and disabled.

McGraw's team looks to be a better ball club than any we have ever seen him lead—not excepting his 1905 world champions. The answer isn't very far away. He has added to a pennant winning cast of 1911 and 1912 a star infielder—a fast hard hitting outfielder in Burns and a crack young pitcher in Demaree. A manager who can bolster up a pennant winning club at least 20 per cent has a fair show of repeating—whatever the fortunes of the game might bring.

Cleveland now looks to be the one contender from the West in the American circuit. Birmingham told us last winter that he had a ball club capable of furnishing a lot of trouble. His dope looks better every day. It depends now as to how far Joe can travel against the ancient Washington hoodoo. The Senators have bumped the Naps out of every race for ten years. Last season they won eighteen out of twenty-two games from the Lajoie-Jackson artillery. If Birmingham can handle the Washington hoodoo he has a great chance of finishing 1-2-3.

Dundee's Draw Was Unpopular

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—Johnny Dundee was given a draw at the end of his twenty-round fight last night with Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion. Kilbane apparently outpointed the challenger in every round, but the Italian's desperate twentieth-round finish in the opinion of Referee Ryan earned him a draw. The decision was unpopular and the crowd voiced is disapproval.

Kilbane defended his title for the first time since he won it from Abe Attell here on February 22, 1912. Betting odds were 2 to 1, with comparatively little Dundee money in sight just before the fight.

Drop Kickers to Hold a Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 30.—George Brooke, football coach of the University of Pennsylvania in an effort to bring out drop kickers and punters for the Red and Blue eleven has adopted the idea of competition in these branches among the undergraduates. With the aid of Assistant Coach Zeigler, Brooke has formulated a set of rules to govern the contests and prizes will be awarded. The candidates will be given a thorough course of instruction in passing, punting and drop kicking.

TIGERS TAKE MERCER GAME

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., April 30.—Johnny Gordon, Sewance's crack slab-sider, put the bumps to Mercer yesterday afternoon, allowing five hits, fanning eight men and blanking the Baptists 6 to 0. By so doing he wellnigh duplicated his stunt of last season, when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the local college boys.

Mercer had two chances to score in the second and in the ninth, but a strike-out and an outfield fly ended them. In the second McGoodwin counted on Fanning's grounder, and in the sixth Gordon singled, stole second and scored on McGoodwin's long drive for three cushions.

Jones walked in the third, advanced two sacks on a single and worked the squeeze play for another score. Two errors allowed Fanning and Dinkins to get on the bags in the eighth. The squeeze play followed for two more runs, and on a hit and a walk, another tally was registered.

Following the failure of Joseph Stack to carry out his agreement to lease the Albany New York league club and its reversal to the original owners, Manager James Tamsette decided to take a chance and has taken over the club on a lease.

MOBILE IS DARK HORSE IN THE SOUTHERN RACE

With Additions from New York Giants Mike Finn Has Most Formidable Looking Class A Ball Club

Sir Mique Finn's Gulls are the surprise of the Dixie circuit. The fast pace put up by this team is exciting wonder in every camp in the Southern league.

So far this season the Gulls have won the majority of games played with rival clubs. Out of eight games played with New Orleans Finn's players have taken five, while they have trimmed Dobb's Billikens twice out of three times. They also defeated Memphis three out of four.

The early spring dope on Mobile was very pessimistic. Nearly all of the sporting writers in the circuit placed the team in the second division and declared it had no chance to run with the "big fellows," but as usual, the "spring stuff" has gone astray. The Gulls look to be real pennant contenders and will make it hot for any of the favorites picked to "run away" before the race was begun.

It is evident that the experts of the league overlooked the fact that Manager Finn had a real agreement with John McGraw and that much of the Giants' extra timber would be turned over to the shrewd Mobilem anager. Among the number of players whom Finn has obtained from New York are Dave Robertson and Stock. Besides Jacobson has been returned for the season.

Dave Robertson, Stock, Jacobson and Paulet form about as hard a hitting trio as there is in the league. Each o. these men is meeting the ballr egularly and besides are smashing it to all corners of the field. With the big four the other members of the team are led a pace, and it appears that, although they are not slapping the ball as hard, still the example of the trio is leading the balance of the line up into a good batting streak.

If the heavy hitting of the team and brilliant fielding of the past few games continues, together with gilt-edge hurling, there can be no doubt but that the Gulls will be in the van of the race during the entire season.

Before the season opened it was predicted by many "wise ones" over the league that the loss of Al Demaree would be a death blow to Finn's chances for a winning team, but the prediction seems to have been wrong. Three hurlers are going splendidly at present. Hogg, Campbell and William Robertson. If these hurlers keep in their present form Finn will not miss his star of last year to a great extent, but will have as good a staff of slab artists as there are in the league.

JORDAN BACK TO LOOKOUTS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30.—Manager Bernhard, of the Memphis, Southern league club, announced tonight that as part of his "weeding out" process, Pitcher Schneiberg ha' been released unconditionally; Otto Jordan, infielder, had been returned to the Chattanooga club, from which he was borrowed; Catcher Haligh has been suspended pending the consummation of a deal for his release to a league of lesser standing, and for the time being, Moulton, who was injured recently, will remain on the retired list.

Under the new national agreement it is compulsory that all minor league clubs be down to the salary and number limit by May 1.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Shipping Day Old Chicks

BY being careful and using judgment in feeding a person can begin to substitute other foods after three days one week old, and the more you can get them to eat the faster they will grow. The main thing is to keep them with an appetite and keep them growing as the sooner they are matured and out of danger the quicker will they begin to bring revenue in the shape of eggs. The main object that nearly every poultryman has in view at all times is a great production of eggs as that is where the profits come in the keeping of poultry, converting food into eggs which can be converted into cash, and this method of shipping day-old chickens with a small express rate and no large investment or layout at the beginning gives every one an opportunity to raise for themselves fifty to one hundred nice pullets every season at a very small expense that will many times overpay for themselves the first year. The day-old chick industry has come to stay, is one of the staple sides of the poultry business, and the more I see of it the more thoroughly convinced I am that it will play an important part in helping to place thoroughbreds in the reach of every one, and sooner or later this method will be the direct cause of distributing thoroughbred fowls on ten farms or homes within the next few years where there is one flock of thoroughbreds now existing.

One of the main things that a person has to be careful about in buying day-old chicks is to try and secure them from as good stock as possible, and by all means buy from some reliable established breeder. At a low price many breeders are offering day-old chicks that some have been inclined to use for this purpose eggs from a quality of chickens that were not the best, but there are so many people who are willing to pay a reasonable price for day-old chickens these days that many breeders are selling these chickens from their best birds, and usually $25 per hundred will get a good quality of thoroughbreds that will enable any one to get started right and for this small investment no one can hesitate longer to put on their place a nice flock of thoroughbreds instead of scrubs. They would lay far more than enough eggs the coming winter to pay for themselves, besides give you a start of something good at a reasonable cost. The sooner people stock their places with thoroughbreds instead of scrubs the quicker will they get in return for the feed and attention given their chickens a much larger per cent of profit than they have ever received before, and the better off they will be in every respect. Good, well bred chickens, like well bred cows will yield more readily to good treatment and high feeding, and there being so small a difference in the first original cost of starting right there is really no excuse why you should keep anything but the best, especially in poultry, and in receiving a large number of day-old chicks, which have been secured from a good realiable breeder a person has a much better opportunity of securing a few at least of extra fine specimens to start his foundation stock from. With a large number raised a person has a sufficient quantity to select a few extra choice specimens either for exhibition purposes or for foundation blood to start and build a future reputation, and in this way for a small amount invested a person has a much better chance to get a large number of birds than by buying a single pen or a few birds and attempting to raise a large number from them. Often you can get even better quality in one hundred chicks at $25 per hundred than you can buy single individual breeding birds even at $3 each for. I have seen a number of birds when matured sell at $2, $5 and $10 each that were reared from a shipment of day-old chickens that only cost $25 to start with, and I know of one party who has started a splendid flock of several hundred thoroughbred chickens and is making money right along from a start of one hundred chickens, which cost him $25 two years ago. This method has been very profitable to many and offers an opportunity for an investment of a few dollars for many others and is being appreciated now more than ever.

Yours very truly,

Lewis Rivers

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Fitzgerald, Ga.

Would you kindly tell me the best way to pick chickens without using hot water?

J. R.

ANSWER.

Usually the best way to pick or dress chickens is to suspend a chicken by tieing its legs together and hang its head down on a suitable pole or place made for this purpose, and with a regular pocket killing knife the point of the blade should be trust just in the lower corner of the eye through to the brain and immediately afterwards one cut in the roof of the mouth and cut only the nerve cords but loosen the blood veins and in a few seconds the feathers can be removed quickly, as every feather will loosen and can be removed much quicker than if they had been scalded. A chicken dresses much nicer in this way and it is so much less trouble. Nearly all ducks and chickens in large dressing establishments are killed in this manner. In the first place the skin is not so easily broken when chickens are dry picked, and furthermore it does not toughen or partially cook the skin on the chicken as hot water will do. A chicken will keep better an dwill cook much nicer and is better in every way when they are picked in this manner. A regular killing knife can be had for fifty cents of Duhn Machinery company, Atlanta, Ga.

QUESTION.

Stuckey, Ga.

Will you please tell me something that will destroy chicken mites? They are giving me a lot of trouble. They are the red mites. They almost worry hens quit their nests they serve them so bad.

Any information that you can give me will be appreciated.

MRS. C. B. G.

ANSWER.

You can destroy the mites by the free use of Noxide. If this mixture is sprayed around walls and nests and the roosts thoroughly painted with it, and the chickens are dipped in one of the disinfectant dips that are advertised in The Atlanta Journal you can thoroughly rid your premises of mites.

QUESTION.

Smithville, Ga.

I desire information concerning a treatment of my dog. He appears, or in fact I know is a worm. Kindly furnish me with best information as just how and what to give him. I have already dosed him with copperas, but still he has the worms and will not get fat. He is a very fine dog, about one year old and I value him very highly.

Any information will be greatly appreciated.

E. C. S.

ANSWER.

If you will give the dog Glover's Vermifuge it will relieve him of the worms quicker than anything you can give. This can be had at any first class drug store at 50 cents per bottle.

It appearing to the Court that The Prudential Insurance Company of America has heretofore filed its duly verified petition, from which it appears that the said petitioner is a stock life insurance corporation, incorporated by the State of New Jersey, and that the Board of Directors of said Company have determined that it would be conducive to the welfare of the corporation and in the interests of the policyholders thereof to change the corporation from a stock life insurance corporation to a mutual life insurance corporation, and said corporation now applying to the Chancellor to appoint two or more disinterested persons to appraise the value of the capital stock of the said corporation, and also to appoint one or more counsel to represent the policyholders before such appraisers and in such further proceedings as may be taken under or in pursuance of said petition.

It is, therefore, on this twenty-second day of April, A. D. 1913, on motion of Edward D. Duffield, Esquire, of counsel for petitioner, ORDERED that said application be heard by the Chancellor at the State House in the City of Trenton, on the tenth day of June, 1913, at ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place the Chancellor will hear all parties in interest who may then appear.

It is further ordered that notice of such hearing shall be given to the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance of this State by serving a copy of this order upon him within fifteen days from the making hereof; and that notice of said application be given to the stockholders of said corporation by mailing a copy of this order to each of said stockholders at his post office address, as the same appears upon the books of the said corporation, within fifteen days from the date hereof, and that notice of said application be given to the policyholders of the said corporation by publishing a copy of this order in one of the newspapers printed and published in the capital of each and every State of the United States in which the corporation does business, and in a newspaper printed and published in the cities of Edmonton, Alberta; Victoria, British Columbia; Winnipeg, Manitoba; Fredericton, New Brunswick; Halifax, Nova Scotia; Toronto, Ontario; Quebec, Quebec; and Regina, Saskatchewan, in the Dominion of Canada, once a week for at least four weeks, the first publication to be made within fifteen days from the date hereof. TERMINAL DISTRICT

ONE of the best opportunities in Atlanta real estate today is in the large section lying in between the Southern and A., B. & A. railroads. This section is about four blocks wide and it extends from Magnolia street out as far as Bellwood avenue.

IN THIS QUARTER you can buy good sized pieces of land, improved with renting houses, property that yields a fair income and has speculative possibilities.

AS AN ILLUSTRATION, we can sell the southeast corner of Magnolia and Mangum street, fronting 108 feet on Mangum street, for $7,500. This lot contains six buildings, five residences and a store, bringing in $60 a month. It is one of those good corners that in time will be necessary in assembling a block of land, and will bring a fancy price.

ON SIMPSON STREET we can sell an entire block of frontage for $5,000. It lies in between [illegible] and extending back 130 feet. All three streets are paved and have all improvements down. This is the block with the old stone house on it.

HERE is a choice little factory site bordering directly on A., B. & A. railroad, the southwest corner of Fox and Wilson streets. It fronts 220 feet on the railroad and has three renting houses. Price $2,500.

WEST SIDE values are low in comparison with other sections, and they are sure to go up in the process of equalization. All [illegible] west side investments for future use.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Whitehall treet Parcel Is Sold for $23,000, or $344 a Front Foot—Business Building at Piedmont Avenue and Ellis Streets—Euclid Avenue and Other Small Sales Reported—Remarkable Development Shown in Decatur

Several interesting announcements were made Wednesday, including a Whitehall street sale, a new building in semi-central territory, and some interesting Decatur developments.

Roff Sims & Co., have sold for Mrs. Jennie L. Chapman to Cater Woolford No. 457 Whitehall street for an aggregate consideration of $23,000, or at the rate of $344 a front foot.

This property is on the north side of the street between McDaniel and Humphries streets. The lot has a frontage of 67 feet on Whitehall street and a depth of 200 feet through to the railroad. There is a cottage on the lot.

NEW BUILDING.

The Excelsior laundry is excavating a lot and has had plans drawn for a building it will erect at the southeast corner of Piedmont avenue and Ellis streets.

The lot is 60x120, and the building will be three stories, either of concrete or mill construction. It will cost between $30,000, and $40,000. The laundry will use it as its plant and office.

BUTLER STREET SALE.

George Gordon has sold to Mrs. Editha W. Wilcox No. 58 North Butler street for an aggregate consideration of $15,500. The lot is 87x261.

EUCLID AVENUE SALE.

M. C. Kiser's agency has sold for Miss Lena Chamlee to W. T. Henry No. 16 Euclid avenue, a nine-room, two-story residence on a lot 50x300, for $8,500.

OTHER SALES.

Edwin L. Harling has sold for John W. Hardwick to Mrs. Flora Dyer No. 499 Bass street, a five-room cottage, for $2,000. Another to W. D. Newsom to D. L. Mayfield No. 380 Oakland avenue, a six-room house on a lot 40x160, with frontage on Viola avenue, for $2,500.

DECATUR DEVELOPMENT.

The development of Decatur is one of the most striking features of real estate just now.

The board of trade, which now has 260 members, is waging a crusade for the development of the town, and has produced some startling figures that will be news to a good many prospective real estate investors.

Building permits in Decatur in 1912, for instance, showed an aggregate value of $300,000, and there is at present $1,000,000 worth of work being done. Whereas, eight years ago there were fifty children in the public schools, there are now over 600.

On one improvement alone, the beautifying of the public square, Decatur is spending $2,000. The Druid Hills company is showing its opinion of the value of Decatur by extending Ponce de Leon avenue through its property to the court house at Decatur, and by its recent donation of a number of acres of land adjoining its holdings at Decatur.

Another development is the opening and paving of Morgan street, to Candler street, which gives an outlet from East Lake to Decatur, and opens a fine automobile driveway.

WORLD'S GREATEST LOBBY FIGHTS TARIFF

Washington Filled With Representatives of Manufacturers Who Will Oppose Bill

BY RALPH SMITH.

WAHSINGTON, April 30.—Before the Underwood tariff bill passed the United States senate it must run the gauntlet of the most powerful lobby ever collected in Washington. This is a strong statement. But information reaching Washington today indicates its accuracy.

This lobby is to consist of a representative of every interest affected by the reductions in the bill, and this as it is submitted will compose the strongest lobby that could be organized within the confines of the United States.

The lobby is being engineered by the American Protective Tariff league. It has sent a direct order to every head of a big industrial organizatoin in the country that he, himself, must report for duty in Washington and remain here until he has personally explained his view of the disastrous effect upon his industry to every member of the senate and house. This is some contract, but that is the way the order to these gentlemen from the American Protective Tariff league reads.

The order is as follows:

"It is possible that before the tariff bill submitted by Mr. Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee.

"By having the head of every responsible producing concern in this country go to Washington and stay there until he has personally presented the effect of every section of the proposed law to every member of congress.

"Don't think for a minute that any member of congress is your enemy. They all are your friends and friends of American industry—providing that honest producers present to them individually honest facts regarding the effects of the radical tariff reductions, amounting practically to free trade legislation, that are embodied in the pending bill. Let the members of the house of representatives and the United States senate know the facts and the truth. Leave them no room to explain hereafter on the ground of lack of complete knowledge of cause and effect."

With this explicit document went a list of the members of the house and senate of congress. The Democrats are segregated and the Progressives are classed as Republicans. Some of this lobby is already here and more arrive daily. The hotels are filled and visitors to Washington.

Unaware of the fight against the tariff bill one would assume that the town must be entertaining some big national convention. The American Protective Tariff league maintains headquarters in one of the hotels here in charge of a man named Frank D. Wickham, to whom all letters ordered to Washington are requested to report.

RUSSIAN BARON CHARGED WITH MURDER OF PRINCE

Bisping Had Left Ladislas Shortly Before Latter Was Found Dead

(By Associated Press.)

WARSAW, Russian-Poland, April 30.—An extraordinary sensation was crused here today by the arrest of Baron John Bisping, one of the wealthiest landlords of Lithuania, on the charge of murdering Prince Ladislas Druicki Lubecki, a relative by marriage, whose body was found pierced with two bullet wounds, on April 22, in the park adjoining his residence at Teresin, near Warsaw.

Prince Ladislas was a well known Polish nobleman and president of the Automobile club of Warsaw. He left his house on April 22 with Baron Bisping for the railway station. When the prince did not return a search was made and his body was found in the park with his carriage and horses standing nearby.

The arrest of Baron Bisping followed on his evidence at the inquest which the police allege was contradictory in regard to the last moments the two men spent together.

Baron Bisping married Princess Radziwill, daughter of Count Andrew Zamoyski and Princess Caroline de Bourson. Prince Ladislas was a grandson of the last Polish minister of finance.

YOU ARE NOT WELL WHEN CONSTIPATED

"Keep Your Bowels Open"—Doctors Estimate 75 Per Cent. of Sickness Due to Torpid Liver.

Some undigested food is left in the stomach daily, which the liver should clear away. A heavy or unusual diet, or a change in water, may cause the liver to clog. These particles are dry, press and clog, and the next day more are left over. So this waste accumulates, clogging the liver, the intestines, and causing constipation.

That is not all. If the waste is not eliminated it ferments and generated uric acid, a poison which gets into the blood and through the system.

JACOBS' LIVER SALTS immediately flushes the stomach and intestinal tract and washes away every particle of waste and fermentation; it purifies the blood by dissolving the uric acid and accumulated and passing it off in the urine.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is much better than calomel; no danger of salivation, no need of an after-cleansing dose of oil. It acts quickly and mildly; never forces, gripes or nauseates. It effervesces agreeably. Take it before breakfast and in an hour you'll feel splendid.

Don't take an inferior substitute some closely imitate the name, but none produces the same result. All druggists should have the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. 25c. If yours cannot supply you, full size jar mailed upon receipt of price, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

BRYAN GRATIFIED WITH CALIFORNIA'S RECEPTION

Secretary of State Says He Shall Tell President How He Was Received in West

(By Associated Press.)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 30.—"I shall take back to Washington to President Wilson a message of how California has treated his representative," said Secretary of State Bryan last night to members of the assembly and Governor Hiram W. Johnson, who were guests of Speaker Young at a dinner.

"What a delightful message it will be, too. I will tell him how the legislature and the governor greeted his envoy in the same spirit in which he was sent. I can not help but feel gratified at my reception."

There is little expectation here that the assembly will reverse the action of the senate in view of the reported breaking down of party lines in the legislature but it is believed that the delay may improve the chances for the introduction of, by the California senate last night clarifies, will it be possible for the administration here to determine upon its next step.

The alien land ownership bill adopted by the senate last night is known as the Webb bill, but is in reality the old Birdsall bill, with several provisions passed upon by Attorney General Webb inserted. Such portions of the Birdsall bill as were not in conflict with the new draft submitted by the attorney general were allowed to stand.

California's first step towards the enactment of an alien land law, contrary to the advice of Secretary of State Bryan and President Wilson, was taken late last night almost immediately after Secretary Bryan told the legislative conference that his official message had been spoken.

The senate, before which the Birdsall-Thompson bill was pending, met in a hurried session and within three minutes voted to substitute for that measure the new draft known as the Webb act, which was completed by Attorney General Webb yesterday. The substitute was adopted as an amendment and the bill sent to the printer with a rush order.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Bryan in San Francisco, whither he went today as the guest of the Panama-Pacific Exposition company, it is the plan of the senate leaders to take no further action on the bill until Thursday, when it will come up in the regular course of business and undoubtedly will be passed, it is said.

It will then go to the assembly and finally to the governor, who has stated that he will sign the measure at once

Next Step of Federal Government Problematical

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Probably not until the legislative status of the substitute alien-land owning bill adopted some amendment on the lines of the Webb bill, which presumably would have received the approval of the national government.

In explanation of the reluctance shown by Secretary Bryan to commit himself to the unqualified approval of any specific measure, it is pointed out by officials here that the administration desires to be quite free of the charge of attempting to control the proceedings of the legislature, confining itself to the effort to limit the legislation within treaty rights and sound national policy.

Also, it is said, that the state department should be left unembarrassed by any commitment in advance of negotiations with the Japanese government which now seem certain to follow instead of the rather informal exchanges that have been taking place.

MacArthur Urges Passage Of Anti-Alien Land Bill

(By Associated Press.)

OAKLAND, Cal., April 30.—Walter MacArthur, recently appointed United States shipping commissioner at San Francisco and editor of the Coast Seamen's Journal, in an address here last night declared that the immigration of Japanese into California was the most dangerous force in the state and he asserted the day was coming when the Japanese situation would be one hard to control.

He said the proposed alien law should be enacted.

Finds House Locked' Calls Fire Laddies To Open Her Door

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 30.—Because she couldn't get into her room which was locked on the inside and because she had to go to a party yesterday afternoon and needed her party dress, Miss Edith Morton telephoned the fire department for help.

The department responded with a hook and ladder company, ran a fireman up to the second story window where Miss Morton's room was situated, opened the window and then the door and let the young lady in where her finery was.

All this happened in the colonial Habersham home which is to be used as a replica for the headquarters of the Colonial Dames in Atlanta.

GIVE THE JOBS TO MEN, URGES ANTI-SUFFRAGIST

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Announcement of the intention of Secretary Lane, of the interior department, to appoint Mrs. Annie G. Rogers, a leading suffragist to be receiver of the public land office at Leadville, Colo., because he believes that "money can be handled more safely by women than by men," brought the following letter from a New York man to the secretary:

"This notice of your appointment of Suffragist Rogers has caused great surprise, and your remarks about men:

"The women you know may be of such a type, also the men; but most of us meet women who throw away a great deal of money on dry goods, and tool hats, such as inclosed picture of them, and nag their husbands for their hard-earned wages, until we men are fast going to the criminal class to get money for their wives to squander.

"Please use your influence to give men work and make women stay at home and keep it for the comfort of husbands and children, so the homes will not be broken up and the children run wild and unruly."

Severe Earthquake Shock Is Felt in Northern New York

(By Associated Press.)

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 30.—The earthquake shock felt throughout northern New York and lower Canada on Monday night was the most severe in this region since the Champlain earthquake of 1663, according to George Halpert Chadwick, professor of geology at St. Lawrence university, who declares that the disturbance "may possibly be the forerunner of a much more serious and disastrous shock."

Prof. Chadwick said that he believed Monday night's earthquake was due to "an actual slipping of the earth's crust along the great crack known as Logan's line which extends from the St. Lawrence valley to Alabama."

"There is no question," said the geologist, "that we are entering upon a period of great seismographic disturbances. As far as our records go there have been no earthquakes here so severe as the one Monday night for nearly three centuries."

Earthquake Shock Is Recorded at Washington

Yell Defiance at Blood Disorders

A Remedy That Has Shown a Most Remarkable Purifying Effect.

At Last You Can Get Rid of Blood Troubles—S. S. S.

The word medicine is one of the most abused in our language. There are certain medicinal properties just as necessary to health as the food we eat. Take, for example, the well-known tonic medicine S. S. S. This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the elements of meat, roots, fruits, the fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact, there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, falling hair, loss of weight, thin, pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced as spring fever. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice and a special book of instruction. S. S. S. is sold everywhere by drug stores, department and general stores.
